Ralston Explains Reasons For McNaughton's Return, Admits 'Some Disagreement'

By FRANK FLAHERTY

OTTAWA, Feb. 12.—(CP)—Defence Minister Ralston yesterday read the House of Commons two separate medical reports on the health of Lt.-Gen. A. G. L. McNaughton, former Canadian army commander overseas, and a message from the General stating he had not the strength to look after the army properly.

Raps Wage Order Tory Leader States Party's Labor Policy

WINDSOR, Ont., Feb. 12.—(CP)

—John Bracken, Progressive Conservative national leader, said last night in enunciating his party's labor policy that labor and agriculture must be given a voice with business and industry in influencing decision of the government.

Mr. Bracken, in a speech prepared for delivery at a party dinner meeting here, expressed sharp criticism of the new wage-control order and proposed a conference of Dominion and provincial authorities to lay the basis for national uniformity in labor practices.

URGES LABOR BOARD

He also proposed establishment of a National Labor Relations Board.

"The struggle for fair and adequate wages is still an important and necessary function of organized labor," Mr. Bracken said. "Trade unionism has not yet passed out of the combative stage, and I think that one of the responsibilities of government is to bring this struggle to an early and satisfactory conclusion."

"It is the ugliest and least constructive aspect of the relations between employer and worker."

The larger interests of labor were bound up with the prosperity of the community and workers should have opportunity to work.

"It is, therefore, the joint responsibility of management and government to see that capital is so organized that productive use can be made of all the workers seeking admission to the ranks of industry."

SEES ONE DANGER

"There is one thing which may weaken the cause of labor," Mr. Bracken said. "It is the possibility that its leadership may become over-stimulated by success and headstrong to a point where it begins to trespass upon the functions of government or the interests of the people at large."

In guaranteeing labor its rights, labor should also be required to respect the rights of agriculture, industry and the public generally. Representatives of organized labor should be included in the membership of all government agencies affecting labor.

MOSCOW, Feb. 12.—Red armies battled their way across the approaches to Korsun, last German stronghold in the encircled pocket below Cherkass, today and the official organ, Red Star, said the annihilation of 10 trapped enemy divisions was "reaching its logical end."

The last battered survivors of an original 100,000 troops were reported making their final stand along the hills and ravines immediately outside Korsun under a literal hail of Soviet shells.

The advancing 1st and 2nd Ukrainian armies counted more than 3,000 enemy dead in the past 24 hours as they pushed to within less than two miles of beleaguered Korsun, mercilessly tightening their ring of encirclement.

Additional thousands were known to have perished in one of the heaviest and most concentrated artillery barrages ever laid down on the southern front.

CLOSE IN ON BASE

Driving from all directions toward Korsun, core of German resistance and the last sizeable town in the encircled area, the Russians captured Mikopole, southeast of Korsun; Olkhovichi, three miles east, and Taganacha, nine miles north and seven other villages in advances of up to four miles yesterday.

Some 200 miles to the west, the Russians fanned out from newly-captured Shepetovka, near the old Polish border, along two branch lines running south and southwest respectively toward the Odessa-Lwow trunk railway, the only practical escape route for hundreds of thousands of Germans still in the southern Ukraine.

One column pushed southward along the line to Proskuryv, the other headed for Tranol. 75 miles east of Lwow itself. Capture of either point would force the Germans, retreating from as far east as Krivoli Rog, to fall back over inferior roads across the Dniester river into the Carpathian mountains or attempt a Black Sea "Dunkirk."

Promotion of four officers on the staff of Brig.-Gen. Worsham, newly appointed commanding general of the combined Northwest Service Command and divisional engineer department, was announced Saturday.

The following have been promoted from captain to major: Albert W. Gotch, of Washington, D.C., serving as assistant to the chief of operations at divisional headquarters in Edmonton; Benito J. Nickelsen, of Pensacola, Fla., who heads the board of control here, and Charles W. Reilly, Birmingham, N.Y., post engineer.

From 1st lieutenant to captain: Chauncey B. Schmeitzler, Dallas, Texas, officer in charge of real estate in the Northwest Service Command.

Predicts Rationing 4 Years After War

OXFORD, Eng., Feb. 12.—(CP)—Britain will be "extraordinarily lucky" if she is rid of rationing four years after the war ends, L. D. Gammans, Conservative member of parliament for Hornsey, said in a speech here last night. Gammans said the United Nations relief and rehabilitation administration anticipates "it will have to feed and house between 30,000,000 and 40,000,000 people who will be wandering about with nothing to eat."

Minister Reports

Alberta Shows Surplus During 9-Month Period

Excluding new borrowings and debt redemption, Alberta had an over-all cash surplus of $3,148,615 for the nine months ended Dec. 31, 1943. It was reported in an interim financial statement released Saturday by Hon. Solon E. Low, provincial treasurer. The surplus compares with one of $2,942,335 for the same nine months of 1942.

Total receipts on income account, including unemployed relief reimbursements totalled $21,558,610 for the nine months, compared with $20,068,556 for the same period in 1942. The report was compiled by C. K. Huckle, C.A., provincial auditor.

Net profits of the Liquor Control Board of Alberta for the nine months ended last Dec. 31 were $4,283,053, compared to $3,941,731 for the 1942 period. The 1943 profit is a $341,322 increase over 1942 figures.

Receipts include $2,993,828 from motor licenses, an increase of $136,690 over the 1942 period; a grant from the Dominion government of $1,576,488 in lieu of income tax, and a further grant of $889,378 from Ottawa in lieu of the corporations tax.

Net funded and unfunded debt of the province at the end of last February 11, 1944.

Big Bombers Hit At French Coast

By WALTER CRONKITE

Copyright, 1944, by British United Press

LONDON, Feb. 12.—Strong formations of Allied four-motored bombers attacked mysterious German targets on the French invasion coast again today, as raiding fleets, including many types of aircraft, carried the sustained offensive into its third week.

The weight of today's attack was indicated by reports from the southeast coast that wave after wave of Allied bombers swept out over the channel by daylight after British light bombers struck at central and western Germany during the night.

Twin-engined Mosquitos carried out raids on central and western Germany last night, and other R.A.F. bombers mined enemy waters, all without loss.

PAPAL SUMMER PALACE GROUNDS USED BY NAZIS

ALGIERS, Feb. 12.—(AP)—Allied headquarters said today that German troops have installed in the Papal Palace grounds at the Castel Gandolfo, and the grounds therefore were legitimately subject to Allied bombing.

The announcement, broadcast by the Algiers radio, said: "Castel Gandolfo, the Pope's summer home, now lies in the battle area, and contains a heavy saturation of German forces. Whenever vital enemy targets appear they will, of necessity, be bombed."

Situation Not Hopeless Beachhead Troops Expected To Hold Until Aid Arrives

By EDWARD KENNEDY

ALGIERS, Feb. 12.—(AP)—Although the situation on the Anzio beachhead obviously is not good, there is every reason to believe Allied forces there will hold until the main 5th Army at Cassino, 50 miles south, breaks through and joins in driving the Germans out of the entire area south of Rome.

Reports from Cassino said American troops were battling up the hills overlooking Cassino "in a gallant effort to bring a quick end" to the fighting in that area and to seize control on the main highway to Rome.

It is clear now that developments at the beachhead have not gone as favorably as the Allied command had expected when the landings were made at Anzio nearly three weeks ago.

The weather has gone against them, impairing the use of large-scale air superiority which the Allies hold over the Germans.

Protest "Attempted"

Letter From British Peer Is Read in Legislature

A letter from Right Honorable Lord Sempill, noted British proponent of monetary reform, stressing the necessity for the British Empire to establish within its own borders a new financial technique both national and international in scope, was read in the Alberta Legislature Friday and immediately drew an "attempted" protest from James Walker, Independent M.L.A. for Warner constituency. Lord Sempill's letter, addressed to Mr. Speaker Peter Dawson, was tabled after being read. The letter follows.—EDITOR.

Edmonton, Alta., February 11, 1944.

To: The Honorable the Speaker of the Legislative Assembly of Alberta.

Mr. Speaker, I pay to you, Sir, and through you to the Honorable Members of the Legislative Assembly of the Province of Alberta, in the Kingdom of Canada, my humble duty, and pray you to receive this sincere expression of thanks for the honor you did me yesterday.

I shall ever remember the opening of the Fourth Session of the Ninth Legislature, when I was privileged to hear the gracious Speech from The Throne seated on the floor of the House.

TO RECALL WELCOME

The words of welcome Mr. Speaker expressed on behalf of Honorable Members will never be absent from my mind and will, of a truth, be recalled as, from time to time, important developments in Alberta claim world attention.

Custom allowed no reply in words, even from one whose family has been Nova Scotian for over three centuries, and whose heart was full of gratitude—hence this written submission to Mr. Speaker.

British-Turk Military Talks Are Suspended

By WILLIAM B. KING

ANKARA, Feb. 10.—(Delayed)

—(AP)—Military talks between the Turkish general staff and the British military mission have been suspended after more than a month of secret sessions, it was disclosed today.

The suspension, however, will not necessarily alter Turkey's policy toward the Allies and the war.

Turkey's foreign policy still is based on a strong alliance with Britain and a cautious attitude toward the war.

I am convinced of these two things after a 50-minute off-the-record talk with Premier Sukru Saracoglu in his office today.

PRINCIPAL QUESTION

While the suspension of military talks was not discussed in the interview with the premier, I am convinced by other information that the discussions bogged down purely on the question of the amount of military supplies necessary to equip Turkey for full-fledged war activity.

During the month of conferences it was made clear, according to my information, that the chances of Turkey's entry into the war will be greatly lessened if the delivery of materials in the quantities desired either is impossible or is disapproved by the Allies.

Turkish policy still follows a purely Turkish point of view.

Senate Approves Ban on Subsidies

WASHINGTON, Feb. 12.—(AP)—

The United States Senate approved by a vote of 43 to 28 yesterday a ban against government payment of subsidies to hold down consumer food prices.

The measure now goes to the House of Representatives which is expected to send it to the White House where a presidential veto almost certainly awaits it. The real test on continuation of subsidies will come then on the question of overriding Mr. Roosevelt's veto.

The bill would ban payment of consumer subsidies after June 30. Through such payments, the government has "rolled back" butter prices five cents a pound and oil prices of some meats three or four cents a pound. Other commodities under consumer subsidies, directly or indirectly, include coffee, flour and milk.

C.C.F. Candidates Run For Election To Yukon Council

DAWSON, Y.T., Feb. 12.—(CP)—

Introduction of the C.C.F. party into Dawson and Whitehorse electoral districts resulted in a closely-contested election for seats on the three-man Yukon council Thursday. Unofficial results were: Dawson, John F. Fraser (Independent), 277; Michael J. Comadina (C.C.F.), 264. Whitehorse: A. Smith (C.C.F.), 308; R. G. Lee (Independent), 290. Mayor E. J. Corp (Independent), was elected by acclamation. The returning officer will have the final count Feb. 23.

Big Warships Of Royal Navy Shell Germans

By C. R. CUNNINGHAM

Exclusive to The Edmonton Bulletin

Copyright, 1944, by British United Press

ALGIERS, Feb. 12.—The big German drive against the rain-drenched and gale-swept Allied beachhead below Rome bogged down today as British troops, supported by the big guns of the Royal Navy, held firm all along the front and American troops threw back a strong Nazi assault near Cisterna.

The position of the Allies remained serious but was certainly not hopeless.

British formations which had absorbed the main weight of the German attack regained some ground yesterday near Aprilia in a sudden thrust through a hurricane, and successive waves of Nazis thrown at the northeastern beachhead fell back under murderous American fire, leaving the battlefield littered with enemy dead.

Both the German and Allied armies along the 14-mile perimeter now appeared to be immobilized by the driving rain and sleet after five days of furious combat.

The heavy fighting was exhausting for both sides, but the Germans were expected to renew their assaults, possibly with fresh troops, as soon as the weather permits.

POUR SHELLS INTO NAZIS

In lieu of aerial backing, the hard-fighting troops got a hand from British warships which steamed in close to the German positions above the British left flank sector and poured shells into the enemy ranks.

A German communiqué said a violent Allied attack against new German lines near Aprilia "broke down"—apparently a tacit acknowledgment.

F.D.R. Nomination Is Seen by Leaders

WASHINGTON, Feb. 12.—(AP)—

The Democratic national convention will open in Chicago July 19, it was announced yesterday by Democratic national chairman Robert E. Hannegan.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 12.—(AP)—A prospective four-day limit for the Democratic national convention was interpreted today by Republicans and some Democrats as a significant indication that leaders expect President Roosevelt to be nominated for a fourth term.

Warmer Weather To Continue Here

Warm winds and the unexpected mild temperature of the last two days will continue over the weekend, according to weather officials.

The wind which changed sub-zero temperatures to spring-like weather overnight was still blowing in the city Saturday morning. It began Friday, around noon, blowing at an average of 20 miles an hour, and toward the afternoon increased to nearly 40 miles with strong gusts. Saturday morning it had decreased to approximately 14 miles.

The maximum temperature reached Friday was 33 degrees and the overnight low 15 degrees. The forecast for the weekend is "partly cloudy and mild."

December is listed at $139,949,872, a decrease of $949,823 over last year. Liabilities to the public at Dec. 31 amounted to $8,089,123, compared to $5,112,120 at Dec. 31, 1942. These liabilities were offset by amounts held in trust in the Imperial bank, Dominion of Canada debentures, cash on hand at treasury branches, and loans and advances. In addition to the public debt, $6,336,354 was outstanding at Dec. 31 in guarantees.

Net payments for unemployed relief were $200,458 for the period, compared with $288,588 for the corresponding period in 1942. Net capital payments were $1,509,667 compared with $1,250,777 for the corresponding period of last year.

Cash payments for ordinary services, compared with the same nine months of 1942, show an increase of $1,021,865.

Included in the increased payments are $50,452 for farm labor supervision; $116,250 to the Royal Canadian Mounted Police; $38,300 to the University of Alberta; $200,000 in increased allowances for old age pension payments; and $320,000 to the treasury branches, as provision for contingent liability.

Cash in banks and treasury branches totalled $11,332,972, an increase of $3,683,282 over 1942.

Premier Clarifies War Reference

OTTAWA, Feb. 12.—(CP)—Prime Minister Mackenzie King warned yesterday that unforeseen circumstances when the attack on the European continent from the west is opened "may prolong the war, not for days or months but even for years."

Mr. King, speaking to Canadian Congress of Labor delegates after they submitted a brief to the cabinet, said unfavorable winds had seriously interfered with maintenance of supplies to the forces landed in Italy. Such circumstances could not be guarded against.

He added: "No one can say today how long the war will last." (Yesterday The Canadian Press quoted the Prime Minister as saying "we are witnessing the possibility of terrible reverses in Italy" which might prolong the war. Last night Mr. King said he had not referred to developments in Italy as reverses which would possibly prolong the war, but to what might happen when the attack on the continent was launched.)

Minister Gives House Report On McNaughton

he agrees, and say that I think the general interest requires that someone else should now take charge, and that I must and will accept the situation with the best grace I can muster."

Gen. McNaughton's retirement from the command of the Canadian army was announced Dec. 27 by Col. Ralston in a press statement. Making his long-awaited statement on reasons for granting Gen. McNaughton leave from military duties and relieving him of command of the overseas army, the minister said he was prepared to go into all "rumors and so-called 'inside', 'off-the-record' reports," but suggested this would do no good.

In other parts of a general statement on the army made in connection with the $3,850,000,000 war appropriation bill, Col. Ralston said that:

1.—Two divisions, a corps headquarters and some army troops comprise the Canadian force in Italy;
2.—The force in England consists of the army headquarters, a corps headquarters and three divisions;
3.—The army headquarters will be maintained and British or other Allied troops may serve under it when the time comes for action;

4.—Canadian casualties in Sicily and Italy up to Jan. 8 totalled 1,354 dead, 299 missing, 86 prisoners and 4,665 wounded.

Col. Ralston said the two medical reports on Gen. McNaughton's condition were transmitted by cable to Prime Minister Mackenzie King on Gen. McNaughton's instructions.

FIRST REPORT

The first—dated Nov. 26, 1943, and signed by Col. L. C. Montgomery, consulting physician for the director of medical services, and Lt. Col. G. C. Ferguson, officer in command of Medical Division No. 12, General Hospital—said the general suffered from fatigue and showed "hypertensions," as well as other evidence "of being definitely below par."

The report recommended leave for three months but said that if he were not exposed to undue hardships the general could carry on his duties for a limited period.

Col. Ralston said that he was in Italy when he received from Gen. McNaughton through Maj. General Montague the message in which Gen. McNaughton said he had not the strength to look after the army properly.

Earlier questions to the government which had prompted Colonel Ralston's statement were based on reports of other reasons for General McNaughton's retirement and the general's reported statement in an interview on his return to Canada that there was "Nothing wrong with me."

ARRANGED FOR LEAVE

Col. Ralston said that immediately after receiving Gen. McNaughton's message he set about making arrangements for the army commander to go on leave and placed Lt. Gen. Kenneth Stuart, chief of the general staff, in temporary command of the army. He said he saw General McNaughton on Dec. 14 and showed him the terms of the announcement to be made to the press.

In discussing possible differences between the government and the general, Col. Ralston said Gen. McNaughton was not a "yes-man" but a man of strong character and opinions. The government, representing the people of Canada, was responsible for the war effort and the army, and "from what I hear at times, the minister apparently isn't a 'yes-man' either."

"That there should be at times divergence of views between the military and the government is inevitable," Col. Ralston said. "But I can say that those differences of opinion have not interfered in any way with the loyal carrying out of plans when a decision has been reached. I can say, too, that those differences of opinion have never altered in any way the high regard in which the government holds Gen. McNaughton as a man and a soldier."

WANTED NO CONTROVERSY

Gen. McNaughton was on leave, he hoped he would get well and be able to progress "free from the worry which a controversy would entail."

While Col. Ralston was speaking Gordon Graydon, Progressive Conservative house leader, tried to ask a question but the minister said he preferred to hear questions later. When he finished Mr. Graydon asked if any other factors than health entered into Gen. McNaughton's retirement.

"I will deal with that later," said Col. Ralston.

The minister opened his speech with a brief account of his visit to the troops in the Mediterranean theatre and of his emotions on visiting the Canadian cemetery at Agira, Sicily.

He said he saw Gen. Dwight Eisenhower, Gen. Sir Harold Alexander and Sir Bernard Montgomery and all had praised the Canadian troops. They had talked straight from the shoulder and told him things which would answer many questions about operations but which could not be told until they became history.

ASKED ABOUT DIVISIONS

Getting around to the Army in Canada, Col. Ralston said he had been asked why the 7th and 8th divisions had been disbanded, and why they had been created in the first place. People had "short memories," he said. When the Japanese were having all their success, the government had estimated what scales of attack might be anticipated and prepared for them. The two divisions were authorized for that purpose and no criticism was made at the time.

PRIVATE BREGER ABROAD

"Said something about working on a secret weapon..."

After the Japanese withdrew from the Aleutians and the re-occupation of Kiska was carried out last August, the situation was appraised again. The possible scale of attack was set at a lower level and the two divisions were disbanded in September.

Not a single fit man had been discharged, except for a few exceptional cases on compassionate grounds. The action had made more men available for overseas service.

There was still a need for troops in Canada. There was an alarm on the east coast on Christmas Day and another on the west coast soon after. He asked what would have been said if there were no troops standing by.

"TIDY" SITUATION

"I think we have a rather tidy situation," he said. "I think we are making the best use of what we have. I submit it is good business to have these troops in the army, trained for whatever may come."

The army in Canada was a base for the forces overseas. It was divided into operational troops; non-operational or servicing troops which had been reduced by about 3,000 during the year; and troops in the training stream.

When the Canadian army formation with two corps was authorized overseas, a great expedition across the channel was expected. The Canadian army was not kept in England for the sake of keeping it all together but because that was the place where it could serve best.

As time went on, however, it was realized that if they all remained there the whole force might go into battle with none of it having had actual battle experience. Where it had been necessary to face that possibility earlier, it was no longer necessary to do so.

Cal. Ralston said he himself in England, when he learned of the North African campaign, asked why a Canadian formation was not included and was given what appeared to him good reasons.

SOUGHT PARTICIPATION

When the Sicily attack was planned the Canadian government had sought the international labor organization and the international court of justice, were provided for in the estimates. The appropriation is $214,600 up from the present year.

Munitions Minister Howe said $1,215,332 has been spent by government-owned Wartime Oils Ltd., which has its head office in Calgary, in the drilling of wells. Replying to a question of Stanley Knowles (C.C.F.—Winnipeg North Centre), Mr. Howe said no wells have been completed by the company but that five wells are being tested and eight are being drilled.

Resources Minister Crerar said arrangements are nearing completion for the departure from Portugal of the first group of refugees destined for Canada.

A total of 36,733 immigrants have entered Canada since 1940. Resources Minister Crerar said in reply to another question. Of these, 11,324 entered in 1940, 9,329 in 1941, 7,576 in 1942 and 8,504 in 1943.

Total fluid milk subsidies paid to Canadian producers during the last six months of 1943 were $3,228,313, said a return tabled by Agriculture Minister Gardiner. A breakdown showed $14,531 went to Prince Edward Island; $128,929 to Nova Scotia; $93,327 to New Brunswick; $796,118 to Quebec; $1,484,848 to Ontario; $170,440 to Manitoba; $94,746 to Saskatchewan; $157,236 to Alberta and $288,135 to British Columbia.

Pensions are being paid to 67,116 veterans of the First Great War who served in an actual theatre of war and 21,833 are receiving veterans' allowances. It was reported in a reply tabled in the commons today for H. W. Winkler (L.—Lisgar).

Sales of army motor vehicles are in future to meet ceiling prices set by the Prices Board, the government said in a reply tabled for G. J. Tustin (PC—Prince Edward-Lennox).

Seize Opium

VANCOUVER, Feb. 11.—(CP)—Police said opium with a street-value of $10,000 was confiscated yesterday when they arrested Jacob Seiman, 50, and Elmer Arnet, 30, and charged them with possession of drugs.

Jottings From House Session

OTTAWA, Feb. 12.—(CP)—Douglas Abbott, parliamentary assistant to Finance Minister Isley, said yesterday in the commons it is unlikely that existing regulations can be relaxed to permit use of trucks for non-essential purposes. He was answering J. G. Diefenbaker (PC—Lake Centre), who said farmers who depended on trucks for transportation had suffered penalties for using them to attend social or church gatherings.

John Blackmore, New Democracy leader, asked if the government had taken steps to increase beet sugar production in light of the statement of S. R. Noble, sugar administrator, that the sugar supply was "tight" and Canada would do no more than "get by" in 1944. Finance Minister Isley asked that the question be placed on the order paper.

Munitions Minister Howe said it is not in the public interest to give information on the cost of building ships in various yards. The question, on an order for repair sought by G. K. Fraser (PC—Peterborough West), was dropped after Mr. Fraser said the incident demonstrated private members could not get information they desired.

A $42,000 increase in estimates for research in the fisheries department was shown in the 1944-45 estimates. No indication was given how the money will be spent. The amount to be voted is $280,000 compared with $238,000 for 1943-44.

Post office estimates showed a net increase of $2,511,000, including $222,000 for salaries and other expenses of post offices; $352,000 for railway mail service; $625,000 for air mail service; and $981,000 for land mail service.

Increased contribution by Canada to League of Nations, including the international labor organization and the international court of justice, were provided for in the estimates. The appropriation is $214,600 up from the present year.

Munitions Minister Howe said $1,215,332 has been spent by government-owned Wartime Oils Ltd., which has its head office in Calgary, in the drilling of wells. Replying to a question of Stanley Knowles (C.C.F.—Winnipeg North Centre), Mr. Howe said no wells have been completed by the company but that five wells are being tested and eight are being drilled.

Resources Minister Crerar said arrangements are nearing completion for the departure from Portugal of the first group of refugees destined for Canada.

A total of 36,733 immigrants have entered Canada since 1940. Resources Minister Crerar said in reply to another question. Of these, 11,324 entered in 1940, 9,329 in 1941, 7,576 in 1942 and 8,504 in 1943.

Total fluid milk subsidies paid to Canadian producers during the last six months of 1943 were $3,228,313, said a return tabled by Agriculture Minister Gardiner. A breakdown showed $14,531 went to Prince Edward Island; $128,929 to Nova Scotia; $93,327 to New Brunswick; $796,118 to Quebec; $1,484,848 to Ontario; $170,440 to Manitoba; $94,746 to Saskatchewan; $157,236 to Alberta and $288,135 to British Columbia.

Big Warships Shell Germans In Beachhead

edgment that the Allies had regained at least a limited initiative in that particular sector 10 miles north of Anzio.

(John Daly reported in a CBS broadcast from Naples that the German offensive appeared to have slowed down and that this morning the situation on the beachhead definitely appeared to be all right.)

Front reports said British assault forces attacked in a hurricane yesterday and edged forward in the area of Aprilia. Official accounts, however, told only of German attacks against the British flank southwest of Aprilia, together with the assaults on American positions below Clistera at the northeastern arc of the beachhead.

NAZIS STILL ATTACKING

It was emphasized that while the weight of the German attack appeared to have eased to some degree in the last 24 hours the Nazis still were attacking and still were pouring in reinforcements in evident preparation for stepping up the assault.

The Allies, it appeared, deliberately have taken time to build up their beachhead, but meanwhile the Germans—hoping for their first worthwhile victory in more than a year, seemed determined to do everything in their power to prevent the Allies from taking Rome.

The slackening of activity on the beachhead perimeter undoubtedly was due in considerable measure to the heavy rains, squalls, and sleet which turned the battlefields into bogs and kept the soldiers on both sides huddling in water-filled slit trenches.

HEAVY CASSINO FIGHTING

The battle of the beachhead had a direct bearing on the battle for Cassino, where the Allies were slowly gaining ground despite the heavy cost.

Official accounts said the Americans were knocking out German fortress-buildings one by one and making slow but steady progress in Cassino itself.

British troops at the Tyrrhenian Sea end of the main front repulsed several determined German counter-attacks along the lower Garigliano river, while Canadian troops of the British Eighth Army on the Adriatic coast threw back two raiding parties with loss to the enemy.

Aerial Opposition Over Europe Light During Past Week

OTTAWA, Feb. 12.—(CP)—Enemy aerial opposition over occupied Europe during the past week was so weak that in some sorties not a single enemy fighter was seen, the R.C.A.F. reported yesterday in its R.C.A.F. summary of overseas operations.

A JU-88 was brought down over its base in France by an R.C.A.F. Mosquito intruder flown by Flt-Lt. Tommy Anderson of Winnipeg. With FO. Frank Cadman of Victoria as navigator. Both recently arrived from Canada this flight was their second operational trip. They sighted an airfield in coming in to land at an airfield in France and pounced on him. The Nazi went down in flames and exploded.

Wages in States Reach New Peak

WASHINGTON, Feb. 12.—Workers in the United States pocketed a record $100,603,000,000 in salaries and wages last year, nearly $21,000,000,000 more than in 1942 and $48,000,000,000 more than in 1939. The commerce department, reporting this last night, said income payments to individuals, including investment returns, in 1943 amounted to $141,717,000,000 compared with $115,480,000,000 a year earlier and $82,578,000,000 in 1939.

reply tabled for T. J. O'Neill (L.—Kamloops). Production subsidies amounted to $173,063, cost-of-living bonus assistance, $96,922 and subventions, $32,851.

Annual Awards By Engineering Institute Made

QUEBEC, Feb. 12.—(CP)—K. M. Cameron of Ottawa, immediate past president of the Engineering Institute of Canada, last night presented prizes and medals to winners of the institute's awards for 1943. The recipients included: Sir John Kennedy Medal: to Dean C. J. Mackenzie, acting president, National Research Council, Ottawa and Dean of Engineering, University of Saskatchewan, "in recognition of outstanding merit in the profession or of noteworthy contribution to the science of engineering or to the benefit of the institute."

Students' and juniors' prizes: H. N. Rutlan prize—N. Safran, Calgary, for his paper "Synthetic Rubber."

Hit-Run Raiders Stab at London

LONDON, Feb. 1.—(CP)—German hit-and-run raiders dropped bombs on London during a brief alert last night. A number of persons were killed.

The brief alert was marked by incidents typical of the people of embattled Britain. Ronald Simmons, 15, was partly buried and pinned against the tilting wall of his bomb-shattered home which was about to collapse on him. While his father and neighbors were trying to extricate the lad, a powerfully-built man came up, braced himself against the wall and the boy was released unhurt.

The man walked away before anyone had time to learn his name. Two children, a five-year-old girl and a baby only a few months old, were blown into the street when a bomb wrecked their home in another residential district. The little girl picked up her sister unhurt. The house was No. 13.

Police Turn Back Doukhobor March To Verigin Tomb

BRILLIANT, B.C., Feb. 12.—(CP)—Ceremonies at the tomb of Peter Verigin I were conducted quietly yesterday by independent Doukhobors as Sons of Freedom, extremist Doukhobor sect, who started to march here from outlying Doukhobor settlements were turned back by police.

Stopped en route to this village of 1,100, on the Columbia river 23 miles west of Nelson, the Sons of Freedom turned about and headed for their homes at Crestova, Thums and other nearby settlements.

Still another branch of the sect, the Spiritual Community of Christ, fearing demonstrations, decided not to make the annual pilgrimage to the tomb and held quiet ceremonies in their homes instead.

Hunt Moonshiner

MARIETTA, Ga., Feb. 12.—(AP)—Cobb county police are looking for a barefooted moonshiner with a size nine foot. Police said the suspect, riding barefoot in a car, fled as they overtook the vehicle. The suspect's shoes, along with 20 gallons of liquor, were left in the car.

"Loot Seats"

ALGIERS, Feb. 12.—(AP)—Members of the French Consultative Assembly will have less comfortable seats at their next session. Robbers entered the assembly building and cut out the leather seats and backs of 12 big armchairs. Leather is scarce in North Africa and brings high prices on the black market.

Finn Leaders Due in Sweden On Peace Move

Exclusive to The Edmonton Bulletin Copyright, 1944, by British United Press STOCKHOLM, Feb. 12.—Finnish interior Minister Leo Ernhrooth and "another high-placed Finn" whose identity has not yet been learned will arrive here from Helsinki by airplane this afternoon in connection with the Finnish peace crisis, reliable sources reported.

A reliably informed Finnish source said there was every indication that his country is determined to heed U.S. Secretary of State Cordell Hull's warning to get out of the war.

He said Finland probably will attempt to contact the Russians directly to learn their terms for a cessation of hostilities.

The most concrete action supporting that belief is the fact—now confirmed—that the Social Democratic party in the Finnish parliament, passed a resolution yesterday asserting that the government must "ascertain and examine" Russian conditions for peace. Finance Minister Vaino Tanner, Acting Premier during the current illness of Premier Edwin Linkomies, participated in the meeting.

Sir Henrik Ramsay, minister for foreign affairs, the German minister, Von Blucher, who returned yesterday from conferences in Germany, the Helsinki correspondent of the newspaper Svenska Dagbladet said.

Canadian Farmers' 1943 Cash Income Sets New Record

OTTAWA, Feb. 12.—(CP)—The Dominion Bureau of Statistics reported yesterday the cash income of Canadian farmers reached a new high level in 1943 when the estimated returns from the sale of farm products totalled $1,397,000,000, an increase of $282,000,000 over 1942. Higher income was reported for all provinces.

The greatest percentage increases occurred in the prairie provinces where, despite a reduced harvest, sales from the previous year's crop were substantial. The returns from livestock were also substantially greater in the prairie provinces, particularly Saskatchewan and Alberta. Poor crops in the eastern provinces resulted in a reduction in cash income from the sale of livestock and livestock products.

Nazi Claim

LONDON, Feb. 12.—(CP)—The German-controlled Paris radio said today that Nazi bombers sank an 8,000-ton tanker off the east coast of Iceland. The date was not stated.

Estimates For Non-War Costs Are $702,369,059

OTTAWA, Feb. 12.—(CP)—Finance Minister Isley yesterday tabled in the Commons non-war estimates for the fiscal year 1944-45, provided for expenditure of $702,369,059 compared with $610,880,494 in the main estimates last year.

The 1943-44 main estimates were increased subsequently to $647,914,000 by supplementary estimates brought down later. Thus the main estimates for the coming fiscal year show an increase of $54,555,000 over the total non-war appropriations for the current year which ends next March 31.

Addition to expenditures for war purposes accounted for all the increase. Largest of these items is a $75,344,000 increase in interest on the public debt and other debt charges. Other major increases are $1,198,000 for administration of income tax and excess profits tax and $2,511,000 for increased post office expenditures.

WAR APPROPRIATION

These non-war estimates are in addition to a war appropriation which has been set at $3,650,000,000 for 1944-45.

The government's total budget, exclusive of any appropriation which may be made for mutual aid to other United Nations, therefore is $4,352,369,59. Last year the comparative figure was $4,500,880,494. The war appropriation for 1943-44 was $3,890,000,000.

Of the total of $702,369,059, the amount chargeable to ordinary account is $686,887,000. The remainder is divided among capital account, $3,444,300; special account, $8,546,300; and government-owned enterprises, $1,491,400.

Uncontrollable expenditures in the estimates total $518,575,000, of which debt charges total $307,058,000 and subsidies and special compensation to the provinces $88,870,000.

DEBT CHARGES

Debt charges in the present estimates represent an increase of $174,000,000 compared with pre-war expenditures which were $133,147,000 in 1938-39.

Uncontrollable expenditures listed are:

Interest on public debt and other debt charges $307,058,000; First Great War pensions $37,000,000; government contribution to unemployment insurance fund $15,000,000; old-age pensions $31,526,000; other pensions and superannuation $5,623,000; care of First Great War returned soldiers $15,584,000; subsidies and special compensation to provinces $88,876,000; Maritime Freight Rates Act $4,400,000; sundry other items $3,508,000.

External affairs estimates show an increase of $195,000 under departmental administration; and $162,000 under representation abroad, to cover increased activity in the foreign service including expenses of new offices in Mexico, North Africa, Peru and New York.

The Dominion's share of old-age pensions, at $31,526,000 shows an increase of $280,000.

Under fisheries, the estimates list an item of $1,000,000 as Canada's share of costs of the International Pacific Salmon Fisheries Commission to overcome obstruction at Hell's Gate Canyon and other points on the Fraser river watershed.

Increases totalling $100,000 are included in the resources department estimates to cover surveys and investigations of the mines branch. The appropriation for Indian affairs is increased by $278,000.

Expansion of National Film Board activities is provided for by an increase of $250,000, which includes provision for the development of international circulation of films.

In agriculture department estimates there is a net decrease of $28,100,000 of which $27,816,000 is accounted for by a decrease in wheat-acreage reduction payments. Last year these payments were covered by a supplementary estimate.

Direct payments to veterans of the First Great War and their dependents show a net decrease of $940,000 and provide for an increase of $160,000 for allowances to widows of veterans of that war. The appropriation for the care of patients is increased by $639,967.

FOR PUBLIC WORKS

Total estimates for the public works department are down $25,000, after making provision for some deferred maintenance work and a new item of $250,000 for a hydro-generation laboratory in the resources department.

An increase of $183,500 is provided for administration and operation of the Veterans' Land act.

Trade department estimates include provision for an expansion of commercial intelligence service activities at an increased cost of $288,700 and an appropriation of $325,000 for research on utilization of farm crops by the National Research Council.

Transport department estimates show a net increase of $75,000.

Children Slain

LONDON, Feb. 11.—(CP)—Germans killed 128 Russian children in the village of Mikhalovka, near Dnepropetrovsk, the Moscow radio said yesterday, reporting the bodies had been found in a ditch—their toys buried with them.

Chinese Forces Advance in Burma

CHUNGKING, Feb. 12.—(AP)—A Chinese army spokesman said yesterday that Chinese troops in northern Burma were advancing steadily and destroying Japanese units, while 14 small-scale clashes had occurred on different fronts in China itself. Enemy attacks were repulsed in southwestern Shansi province and at a point about 80 miles south of Nanking, he said.

Estimates for War Purposes Reduced by $240,000,000 From Previous Appropriation

By FRANK FLAHERTY
OTTAWA, Feb. 12.—(CP)—Canada and the other United Nations have reached or nearly reached the end of the process of catching up on the enemy in total war preparations. Finance Minister Isley said yesterday in the Commons as he gave details of his $3,650,000,000 war appropriation bill for 1944-45.

1,354 Canadian Soldiers Killed In Sicily, Italy

OTTAWA, Feb. 12.—(CP)—Fighting in the Moro valley, culminating in the capture of Ortona, Dec. 28, was the toughest Canadian battle of this war with the exception of Dieppe, it was indicated by casualty figures given yesterday in the House of Commons by Defence Minister Ralston.

On the basis of Col. Ralston's statement and other official figures, the six weeks' fighting between Nov. 23 and Jan. 8 resulted in a total of 2,744 casualties, compared with a total of 3,543 for the much longer period of fighting from the time the Canadians landed on Sicily, July 10 to Nov. 23. The Italian campaign started Sept. 3.

TOTAL TO JANUARY 8

Col. Ralston said yesterday that up to Jan. 8 Canadian casualties in Sicily and Italy totalled 1,354 deaths, 299 missing, 86 prisoners of war and 4,655 wounded. The minister added: "Those figures, of course, have grown since Jan. 8."

From Col. Ralston's figures yesterday and previous official casualty reports, the following comparisons were possible:

Killed W'nd Mis'd	To Jan. 8	1,354	4,655	299
Sicily and Italy	475	1,814	150
Sicily	879	2,481	149
Italy	238	811	45
(Nov. 23-Jan. 8)	641	2,030	104

Here is a comparison of the Sicily-Italy campaign up to Nov. 23 with the recent six weeks of the Italian fighting:

Canadian troops overcame the heaviest resistance of their Mediterranean campaign in winning the Moro Valley battle which ended with the German withdrawal from Oortona on the Adriatic coast.

USED FULL WEIGHT

For three weeks—from the time two western battalions crossed the narrow, muddy Moro River—the Canadian 1st Division hurled the full weight of its man and tank power against the Germans who were under orders to fight to the last man. Ortona itself fell after a week-long fight.

1944-45 War Appropriation Totals for Departments

OTTAWA, Feb. 12.—(CP)—Following is a breakdown by departments of the 1944-45 war appropriation of $3,650,000,000 as given yesterday in the Commons by Finance Minister Isley:

Total estimated war expenditure	3,619,460,540
Active Assets	30,539,460
Grand total chargeable to war appropriation	$3,650,000,000

The total is down $240,000,000 from last year's appropriation of $3,890,000,000 which, the minister said, will probably cover actual expenditures so that no supplementary appropriation will be necessary.

Estimates for the army are down $229,000,000 from last year at $1,535,000,000, for the navy down $79,000,000 at $410,000,000 and for the air force down $130,000,000 at $1,090,000,000.

COMBINED TOTAL

The estimate for the munitions department is up $17,000,000 at $183,000,000, and the combined total for the four war departments, including sundry services at $22,000,000, is $3,240,315,827. This is a decrease of $331,000,000 in round figures from the previous year's war appropriation.

There are increases in other government departments for war expenditures, notably $59,000,000 for agriculture—presumably farm subsidies; $47,000,000 for finance, nearly $2,000,000 for the national research council and $5,000,000 for pensions and health—for pensions for veterans and rehabilitation outlays.

"For the United Nations, the early years of the war were occupied with building the enemy who had prepared in advance, while war plants were built, men were trained and the economy was re-oriented."

NOW NEAR GOAL

"We now have reached or are reaching the point, varying to some extent in varying fields of equipment and activity, when—thanks to the superiority of our industrial resources and the resourcefulness which characterizes the democratic organization of the United Nations—we can deliver against the enemy that overpowering weight of armed power which is essential for minimizing the loss of human lives."

Mr. Isley predicted Canada's total over-all financial outlay would be less in 1944-45 than in 1943-44.

While there was an increase in the main estimates, also tabled yesterday, due to higher debt charges, the mutual-aid appropriation would probably be less than the $1,000,000,000 appropriated last year.

Last year's mutual-aid vote—for supplying goods to the United Nations without payment—would carry the government some weeks past the end of the fiscal year, next March 31.

MAINTAIN "TOTAL WAR"

Mr. Isley said the sum asked for direct war expenditures is based on the "assumption that Canada wishes to maintain a total war effort."

"We have done well for a small and youthful country; we have done more than the world thought we could do; more indeed than we ourselves ever dreamed that we could do—but he makes a mockery of words who says that our effort and our sacrifices are proportionately greater than the achievements and the sacrifices of the heroic people of Britain and of Russia or the nameless suffering of the peoples of conquered countries," he said.

The national income had risen to unprecedented heights. The national debt was higher but that was offset by other factors and the annual burden in proportion to the national income and taxable capacity, due to reduction of interest rates, was less than before the war or even 20 years ago.

The debt would create a management problem, but the key to it was maintenance of a high level of employment, production and national income.

"Fortunately, thanks to the fact that we have conceived our war effort in great and noble proportions, we shall go into the post-war period with many new assets."

OUTLINES ADVANTAGES

"In particular we shall have a vastly expanded and more diversified industrial equipment, a wide range of newly acquired skills; a larger, better-trained and healthier population; and a new sense of achievement, a new confidence in our capacity to do great and difficult things."

Mr. Isley said this was the 10th war appropriation asked from parliament in this war.

He revised the previous ones: $100,000,000 at the start of the war in September, 1939; $700,000,000 in the main war appropriation bill of 1940; $135,000,000 in a supplementary bill in April, 1941; $300,000,000 in the main bill of 1941; a supplementary appropriation of $135,000,000 in 1942; three bills for $500,000,000, $1,500,000,000, and $858,000,000 for the fiscal year 1942-43; and $3,890,000,000 appropriated a year ago for the present fiscal year.

Total direct war expenditures up to the end of the fiscal year ended March 31, 1943, was $5,078,000,000, but this did not include indirect war expenditures to provide supplies to other United Nations. (A $1,000,000,000 gift to Britain bill was passed in 1942 for the year 1942-43, and replaced by the $1,000,000,000 mutual-aid bill covering supplies to any United Nation for the present year.)

Sport has been the main topic of conversation along the boulevards during the past week, with the 27th annual local bonspiel highlighting the discussions. A total of 92 rinks entered this year's curling event, and with good ice prevailing most of the time, competition was keen.

Another sportive item of interest is the acceptance by the C.A.H.A. of Edmonton's entry in the Allan Cup playdowns. When Ottawa issued orders forbidding Navy, Army and Air Force service hockey teams from participating in provincial play-offs, Alberta was left without a senior representative, so local sports enthusiasts formed a team known as Edmonton Vics. It consists in the main, of former professional players and a few seasoned amateurs of pre-war days. Such names as Earl Robertson, Leroy Goldsworthy, Paul Runge, Louis Holmes, Emory and Emil Hanson of Camrose, Jimmy Graham, Joe Brown, Bruce MacKay and Jimmy Anderson will no doubt be familiar to you.

WOI, Leslie Smitten, D.F.M., returned to Edmonton Monday after three years overseas with an R.A.F. bomber squadron. He was one of the first Canadian airmen to be decorated for gallantry in the present war. He is one of six brothers on active service.

Edmonton Vics, Alberta entry in the Allan Cup hockey playdowns, defeated No. 2 A.O.S. 10-4 in an exhibition game Sunday. Canadian Athletic Juniors defeated H.M.C.S. Nonsuch 3-2 Saturday, running their league victory total to eight games. With a total of 92 rinks entered, of which 52 are visitors, the 27th annual bonspiel of the Alberta Curling Association got under way here this morning.

The provincial cabinet held all-day meetings at the Legislative buildings Monday, to discuss legislation and matters of government policy which will be placed before the session of the Legislature which opens Thursday.

Two Edmontonians who served with the ill-fated British-Canadian garrison that defended Hong Kong, have written relatives they are "alive and well" in Japanese prison camps. They are Capt. Gordon C. Gray, son of Dr. and Mrs. Gordon Gray, 10206 123 street, medical officer with the Quebec Rifles, and Lt. Harry L. "Duke" White of the Winnipeg Grenadiers. Mrs. White is now living in Calgary.

Elaine Janvier, the six-foot full-blooded Indian who was hired by Paramount Pictures, Inc., to drive a team of dogs, purchased in Edmonton, in a sequence of "The Road to Utopia," a new Hope-Crosby picture, arrived back in Edmonton today somewhat disillusioned by Hollywood make-believe.

The Y.M.C.A. anticipates a great expansion period after the war, F. G. Hubbard, personal secretary, national council Y.M.C.A., Toronto, said here Monday. The sophomore class of the University of Alberta was awarded first place in the inter-year play competition staged by the University Dramatic Society, with its presentation of "Pyramus and Thisbe."

Albert V. Bourcier, former Social Credit party whip in the Alberta legislature, was named to that post during Tuesday morning's pre-session caucus of Social Credit M.L.A.'s. John Hipfner, Edmonton citizen facing extradition to the State of Wisconsin on a charge of jail-breaking, was granted a further adjournment until Monday, Feb. 21, when he appeared in supreme court Monday.

Ken Cox of the Canadians heads the list in the city junior hockey scoring race with a total of 28 points, marked up in 10 games. Visiting and city rinks were on exactly even terms as far as the Grand Challenge was concerned at the end of the first day of the 27th annual bonspiel of the Alberta Curling Association, for Monday night, 23 outsiders rinks and the same number of local rinks remained in the running in the Edmonton Breweries Ltd. competition. Canadians outscored the Edmonton Athletic Club 5-3 Monday night in a City Junior Hockey League game.

Arrangements have been made for the annual get-together of the 51st Battalion Association Saturday, Feb. 12, in the Macdonald hotel.

Edmonton Kiwanis Club, at a meeting Monday, voted unanimously to aid in the rehabilitation of disabled veterans of the war. Henry E. Van Loon, father of Mrs. J. B. Carmichael, general manager of the Edmonton Clive Opera Society, died suddenly at his home in Chicago, according to word received here. Archibald Rendall, of 10665 94 street, well-known business and community welfare worker, died suddenly Monday.

Charles Holder, Vimy, former Social Credit M.L.A. for St. Albert constituency, was nominated as Social Credit Party candidate for that riding in the next provincial general election. "Any idea of charity should be removed from pensions and from old age pensions in particular. They should be considered payment for work done in previous years," declared Mayor John W. Fry at a meeting of the Alberta Pensioners' Society Monday.

Officers, M.C.O.'s and other ranks of the Edmonton C.W.A.C. are now holding regular "beefing" sessions with the aim and object of smoothing out difficulties and looking toward more efficient and happier organization.

In recognition of their meritorious service during the fire at the Civic garage Jan. 27, this year, three members of the staff have been given gratuities of $50, it was announced by Mayor John W. Fry.

Auto License Fees

Royal assent was given yesterday to an amendment to the Motor Vehicle Act of British Columbia which authorizes a 20 per cent reduction in the cost of 1944 passenger automobile licenses in the Coast province. The B.C. motor license year begins March 1 and the amendment is now in force.

This is an intelligent and commendable effort to readjust a tax to the circumstances of war time.

Passenger motor vehicle travelling is notably reduced by the shortage of tires and by gasoline rationing. It is exceedingly unfair that a motorist, then, should be charged the same fee for this reduced operation as for the free operation in peace time.

The British Columbia amendment, effecting a reduction in motor license costs commensurate with the reduction in motor vehicle operation, is a sane and timely piece of legislation.

It is our suggestion that the Alberta Legislature would perform an act of justice by enacting similar legislation before the end of the Alberta motor license year.

Hasty Marriages

There is a story in the news about the steps that are taken to prevent hasty—and therefore hazardous—marriages involving Canadian troops in Britain. Military authorities, it is said, investigate the candidates for matrimony thoroughly and, after all enquiries are made, a two-month interval must elapse between consent to the marriage and its performance.

This procedure is so essentially sound and intelligent that it is too bad it could not be carried back for regular civil use in Canada.

The one reason for overworked divorce courts and most domestic unhappiness is hasty, ill-considered marriages.

Once upon a time, there used to be an institution known as courtship. During the courtship period, the intending pair would get acquainted with one another, discover each other's quirks of temperament and foibles of mind. The result was that most marriages preceded by an adequate period of courtship stayed put.

Today there is an unhappy tendency among many young people to rush into matrimony after a hasty infatuation that is barely preceded by an audible introduction. Sometimes the rash decision is inordinately influenced by gin.

If the army rule which provides a two-month delay between the issuance of the marriage license and the ceremony of marriage were to be introduced into civil life, much unhappiness would be avoided and the divorce courts would be relieved.

The debate on the Address ended at Ottawa in far less time than is commonly spent in this "full dress" discussion. There is no danger that the business of the session will be less carefully or less competently transacted on that account. Quite the contrary. The members have not wearied themselves in random speech-making, and will have more energy and time to devote to the sessional program in detail.

The length of this initial debate is frequently a barometric reading of the political weather. When the country is in turmoil and the government of the day unpopular all and sundry of the members on the opposition side naturally take opportunity to say so, at length, in detail, and with enthusiastic repetition. When the debate is brief it is usually a sign that the critics have not very much to complain about and do not see much chance to make political headway by keeping the talk barage going. Apparently they ran out of subjects—or out of ardor—quickly on this occasion.

Political considerations and inferences aside, the program for the session is long, and very important. The budget of war business would make it so if that were all that had to be dealt with. But in addition there is a list of immediate non-war proposals, some of them almost revolutionary in character; and a list of subjects connected with planning for post-war times. With any regard for proportion, and for the importance of these proposals, the session cannot be other than prolonged.

It is well on this account that the opening debate was not protracted. In several respects the program calls for the breaking of new ground, the introduction of conditions never before known in Canada. This is not something to be done without full and frank discussion, item by item. The early clearing of the decks will enable parliament to get down to business promptly.

Democracy on the March

The Speech from the Throne at the opening of the Alberta legislature indicates that the members will be asked to establish a department of public welfare, to consider the creation of a power commission, to provide free hospital care for maternity patients, to pass an apprenticeship act providing training for youth, to authorize the research council to look into the problem of developing the McMurray tar sands commercially, to sanction an agreement with the Dominion by which similar steps will be taken this year as were taken last year to secure farm help.

All these measures are concerned with preserving health, relieving distress, opening new opportunities for employment and production. In this the legislative program is comparable to those which have been put before other provincial legislatures and the Dominion parliament. The protection of people from disease, from poverty, from unemployment and economic sterility, is the major purpose of public policy at present in respect to internal affairs.

The broad significance of this is an awakened consciousness of society's responsibility for the wellbeing of the individual. It no longer has to be argued that the public are responsible for giving relief where that is needed; for making it possible for the sick to get proper treatment, for pointing the way to the development of resources, for helping to create conditions in which every able and willing person can find means to support himself and those dependent upon him. These are now recognized to be public obligations—witness the subjects with which the legislatures and parliament are dealing.

Democracy is on the march in Canada. It is demonstrating that we do not have to subject ourselves to state servitude in order to get security against poverty or disease; that National Socialism can be left to countries which want to be bossed by bureaucrats; but that as for Canadians we can and intend to have both personal freedom and personal protection.

Washington gave the Government of Finland the best advice the circumstances made possible. Little as the Finns may like it, the sooner they make peace with Russia the less harsh the terms are likely to be. If the Red army had to sacrifice men and time administering a knock-out blow, Moscow would not forget to add that item to its bill.

Canada is likely to send Britain 1,000,000,000 pounds of bacon this year, under the arrangement calling for not less than 900,000,000 pounds this year and next. Whether or not the war in Europe ends in 1944, Britain will have to import its bacon supplies in major quantity in 1945, and European producing countries cannot get back quickly on an export basis. The 450,000,000 pound minimum "average" which was troubling some of our political agriculturists a few weeks ago, is not likely to mean any more in 1945 than it does in 1944.

Private Money Monopolies Shackle the World in Debt

State Control of Credit Is Basic Reform, Says Lord Sempill

By HAROLD L. WEIR

The excellent speech made by Lord Sempill to the Ottawa Board of Trade and amplified this week in interviews in Edmonton indicates how completely the idea of monetary reform has begun to dominate the thinking of all classes of society and all shades of political opinion.

Monetary reform—formal reform—should be considered as part of the defensive mechanism of the government. It was regarded as an appeal for help from the economic weakness who was unable to make his own way in a world of strenuous financial competition. That view has completely changed. For it is clearly seen to day that the abuses of money and credit do not merely inflict a hardship upon any one particular class. They plunge an entire nation into perpetual debt. They enslave individuals and they enslave governments.

Of this hard fact nine-tenths of the people in Canada are utterly convinced. Apparently the only people who fail to see it are the Finance Ministers. They and the little coterie of "sound money" diehards that surrounds them, intent on clinging as long as possible to those private money monopolies that set up an absolute financial hierarchy within the state and dominating the state.

State Control

Lord Sempill declares that the basic financial reform, essential to any country, is the restoration of the control of money and credit to the state.
Abraham Lincoln enunciated that policy a few months before his assassination. Prime Minister Mackenzie King (although Mr. Halsey betrays his leader by flouting it) repeated that declaration in 1935.

The creation of money and credit, declared Mr. King, is the sovereign and exclusive function of the state and no state is sovereign that fails to exercise that function.

Current practice, tragically, is far removed from that principle. Instead of restricting our chartered banks to a merchant banking business, which they perform admirably, Canada permits her chartered banks to exercise the sovereign right of creating money and credit.

One of the factors that precipitated the French Revolution was the practice of farming out the taxes. Wealthy individuals were given the right to collect taxes from the people and, in turn, they had to pay government bills and keep the king's purse filled.

Canada's private money monopoly is infinitely more iniquitous than this debased system, because the monopolists are turned loose to charge the people interest on the use of their own money—and the only pockets they fill are their own.

In this war, the government, that is the people, of Canada has borrowed more than two billion dollars from the chartered banks. This money has no real existence. It is merely a bookkeeping entry. But on that two billion dollars the government or people of Canada must pay interest that is real. They pay millions of dollars a month in interest on those loans.

The tragic joke of the thing is that this two billion dollars, which is only credit, is already the property of the people of Canada because the creation of credit is or should be one of the sovereign and exclusive functions of the state.

In short, the people of Canada have mortgaged the solvency of their own and future generations for the privilege of using their own money to defend themselves from destruction.

They load themselves and their children with unpayable debt for the right to use their own money. Is it any wonder, then, that the gesture of Graham Towers, governor of The Bank of Canada, in announcing a reduction in the discount rate from 2½ per cent to 1½ per cent is regarded as so futile?

The chartered banks are not borrowing from The Bank of Canada because Mr. Towers has already furnished them legal tender as a free base to create billions of dollars of their own credit (money) without having to borrow.

The Canadian people should not have to pay a cent of interest. It is their own money and their own credit. Why should they not use it through what was intended to be their own Bank of Canada?

Sempill's View

With all these views, as they apply to all parts of the Empire, Lord Sempill is in complete accord. He says:

"It is clearly absurd that men in need of the necessities of life should be denied money with which to buy them because there is a super-abundance of those necessities and therefore their services are not required to produce more. Unemployment is a by-product of under-consumption, a shortage of effective demand for the goods which a nation is capable of producing.

"Under a revised monetary system it would be one of the main functions of the treasury to put into circulation without creating a debt just sufficient new money to balance the increase of goods and services that are brought about by the full utilization of manpower and materials.

"By so doing it would maintain the price index constant, and it is of the first importance that the value of currency should not vary, and the technique for achieving this would be to regulate the amount of money in circulation to correspond with the amount of goods and services produced.

"Internally the problem is to equate purchasing power with production. To do this we have to ensure that the state must spend into existence new money, created not as at present as a debt to the banks on which interest is payable, but 'interest free money' created by the banks acting as agents for the government, and receiving payment for the service they render instead of interest payments in perpetuity.

"That latter is the crux of the problem—the full control of money credit by the state, use of public money without paying tribute to private monopolists.

Prime Minister Mackenzie King promised the Canadian people that reform in 1935.

Why, in the face of huge war expenditures which, under the private monopolist system, is plunging every Canadian into unpayable debt to the banks, should we not have these essential changes during the present session of parliament?

Heaven

PETERBOROUGH EXAMINER

One of the few things which may be said in favor of war is that it broadens our horizons. For instance, we learn that the natives of New Britain are convinced that no man can go to heaven unless he dies rich. How different from the general attitude of our fair land, where religion looks upon wealth as a handicap in the journey to heaven, where the government does its best to keep men from dying rich, and where vigorous political parties are eager to prevent men even from becoming rich!

rant against "Communism" and the Soviet Union while posing as upholders of "Christianity." They never expose Fascism because they have everything in common with its barbaric aims. They hate to see the Red Army throw the Nazi gangsters out of the Baltic States and Poland. They try to assure us that if the Soviet Union liberates these countries, "all is lost." In other words, if Hitler loses, they, too, are lost. If there are Christian people in Canada who have no part in this hypocrisy, The United Church of Canada and the Salvation Army have associated their churches with the great desire for friendship with our great Soviet ally. The true Christian spirit realizes how much the Soviet people have sacrificed for human decency to crush Fascist bestiality. Yet, we must beware of this "Christianity" that spreads the same line as Go-babels.

Catholic Position

Editor, Bulletin: Your issue of February 7th carries a resume of an article appearing in Izvestia, official Soviet newspaper, in which the writer asserts that Pope Pius XII is pro-Fascist. I feel the article calls for comment from a Catholic source. Consequently, I write you, not because I feel the article reflects the opinion of your paper, but because its plausibility might leave an entirely erroneous impression in the minds of your readers.

With regard to the broad general policy of the Vatican, any well informed Catholic will tell you that it is the desire of the Holy See to maintain diplomatic relations with the government of any country in which Catholics reside. Sometimes, because of the reluctance of civil governments, the establishment of such relations is not possible. Nevertheless, such friendly diplomatic intercourse remains the desire of the Vatican, and, prior to the war, such relations existed between the Holy See and the governments of 38 states.

With regard to the form of civil governments, it has always been the teaching of the Church—a teaching to which she has adhered strictly in her diplomatic relations—that any form of government is legitimate which enjoys the sanction of the people. Moreover, throughout the centuries, the Church has proven her adaptability to any form of government which leaves her free to pursue her spiritual mission.

Nevertheless, because the Church is the church of the people, she lives best and functions more fruitfully under a form of government where ultimate power reposes in the people. Such governments are invariably more tolerant than anything snacking of totalitarianism. This fact explains the many occasions on which the Pope has made it clear since the outbreak of this war that, despite the strict neutrality he has maintained, his sympathies lie with Britain and the United States.

The claim of Izvestia that the Lateran Treaty tied the Vatican to the Fascist bandwagon in Italy runs counter to the known facts. I can speak with some little authority on this matter as I was a student in Rome at the time of the signing of the pact and recall vividly events which preceded and followed the signing of the treaty.

First of all, the Lateran Treaty was the result of advances made by the Italian Government and not by the Vatican, although the fact remains that Pope Pius XI was anxious to find a solution for a problem which had bedevilled the Italian church for nearly sixty years. Moreover, negotiations were frequently interrupted by disputes between the Holy See and the Italian Government over other matters. Only a few days before the signing of the pact, Osservatore Romano, the official organ of the Vatican, carried a scathing attack upon the Government for its interference with the Catholic Action groups in Italy.

No sooner had the edition appeared on the streets than it was bought up by the Italian police acting upon Mussolini's instructions. The Pope immediately warned the Italian Dictator that a repetition of such action would terminate all negotiations between the Vatican and his government. The next day the Vatican organ carried the same article and the Italian people were treated to the strange experience of having their Duce take a terrific verbal licking from the white-clad figure in the Vatican. Believe me when I say that when Pius XI decided to lay it on he could do that very thing without fear or favor.

As a matter of fact, from the time of the Fascist march on Rome in 1922 until the beginning of the Ethiopian episode in 1935, the Pope of the day was the only figure in Europe or in the world who opposed the extravagances of the Italian Dictator. Moreover, his opposition was as frequent as occasion demanded and altogether fearless.

This does not mean that Pope Pius XI did not have a certain admiration for Mussolini. It was an admiration founded on the fact that Mussolini had given a measure of security and prosperity to a people who were war-ridden and sadly disillusioned. He saw many faults in the Fascist regime, but, for all its faults, he preferred it to the only seeming alternative—the atheistic communism of Soviet Russia.

At no time did Pope Pius XI have any mercy on Hitler's Nazi regime. At the time it was fashionable in Britain to pat the German dictator on the back, Pope Pius was making his famous denunciation of another cross "other than the cross of Christ" which made its appearance on the streets of Rome on the occasion of Hitler's visit. Relations between the Vatican and the Italian government deteriorated rapidly as soon as the Nazi dog began to wag the fascist tail.

We all know today the heroic efforts made by the present Pope to preserve the peace. We know of his many and fervent appeals. We know of his Five Peace Points which received the endorsement of the Anglican Archbishops of Canterbury and York and the Moderator of the Free Church Federal Council in Britain. These are facts to which Izvestia must bow.

As soon as war was declared, however, the Pope immediately adopted a policy of strict neutrality from which he has never departed except to appeal for the observation by all sides of the laws of humanity in the waging of air warfare. Incidentally, it is worthy of note that his first appeals in this regard were made at a time when it was the cities of the United Nations that were taking the pounding. No policy other than neutrality is possible for the Pope. He cannot take active sides for or against countries in which his spiritual children live.

Because of his strict neutrality he did not condemn the Italian "stab in the back" of prostrate France. Nor, for that matter, did he condemn the first "stab in the back" to characterize the present world struggle—Soviet Russia's stab of agonized Poland. Izvestia should be a little careful about introducing subjects which treat of knifing.

She has done a little high class knifing herself within the memory of this generation. I have little hesitation in saying that when, in fifty years' time, historians begin pointing the finger at those responsible for the outbreak of the present war, they will lay the blame at the door of Soviet Russia no less than at the door of Nazi Germany. The duplicity of Soviet foreign policy no less than the ambitions of Hitler is a direct contributing cause.

We have not heard the last of Soviet foreign policy. Its devious methods have been revealed only lately in the Soviet inspired charges that Britain was seeking a separate peace. We can expect more of the same for Soviet Russia has yet to prove it has any loyalties.

This, sir, has developed into a lengthy dissertation. I repeat again what I said before. I write, not in the spirit of controversy, but to give the other side on a question upon which the public mind could be easily misled by an article more commendable for its plausibility than its reliability.

Polish Boundary

Editor Bulletin: I like to read letters written by different people on different subjects and am often amazed at the things people sometimes get out of the news. It has often appealed to me that many people read with their eyes, but the meaning of what they read escapes them so they fix it up to suit themselves.

A letter by J. A. Connelly, "Moscow Plans," in Saturday's Bulletin Feb. 6th is a good example of this. Speaking of Stalin's hesitancy or refusal to set the Polish boundary. The facts in the case as printed in the news items from time to time are that the Commission that set up the Polish government after the last war set the boundary at what is known as the Curzon line, Poland seized a favorable opportunity to annex another strip as well.

The only pact between Stalin and Hitler was the non-aggression pact, caused by Munich and Chamberlain's reluctance to, or decision not to, enter a pact with Russia. After the defeated Polish government had fled, Russia took back that strip in the face of the advancing and victorious Germans and from the news items nobody need have the least doubt that Russia intends to keep it.

Anthony Eden is a politician and his statement can be taken any way a party wishes to. I am in agreement with a commentator who stated that it admitted Russia's right to that territory.

As for Communism I've long regarded that as a bogey used by the clergy and politicians to scare people into doing what they wanted them to do. Even President Roosevelt was called a Communist in the last election. I've asked many people who claimed to be, or spoke as if they were Communist. What is Communism and what do they believe in? All said they really did not know with two exceptions. One of these said Communism boiled down means the international brotherhood of man. The other said I've never been able to find out but the press and the clergy are against it so there must be something in it for the common man. So I'm for it. F. A. NICHOLAS.

Power Politics

Editor, Bulletin: In view of the political eminence of the speakers, two more "unfortunate" use Prime Minister King's description—I would say mischievous—utterances could hardly be made than the speeches of Field Marshal Smuts and Lord Halifax in London and Toronto. Both were dominated by the idea of power-politics to which we owe, largely, the tragic state of the world at the present moment. Both envisioned a return after the war to the balance-of-power politics which have bedevilled international relations in Europe for the past century and more. Smuts was for strengthening the British Empire by close alliance with the lesser powers in western Europe in view of the "rise

District News in Brief

Old-Time Hockey Stars in Action

CORONATION—The exhibition hockey game between the Reserve Army team here and a team comprised of players of bygone years, which was held in aid of the Red Cross, attracted the largest crowd in the history of the local arena. Hockey players of the 1913-14 era got a large hand from the crowd. The score of 5-4 in favor of the younger team did not convince the spectators that hockey players of today were better than those of 30 years ago.

In nominations for town council, W. A. Lamrock was re-elected while W. Jessup replaced B. M. Moen. For the school board, J. Mayhew was re-elected and W. M. Biddle took the place of A. O. Thomas, K.C.

Nominations for the new enlarged municipality of Paintearth took place Tuesday, Feb. 8. E. D. Stokes, Coronation was nominated for Division 1; F. Cameron, Coronation, Division 2; E. O. Gale, Castor, F. Miller, Castor, Division 3; J. Bate-men, Castor, C. Colley, Bulwark, Division 4; and Ray Elliot, C. A. Stoltz, Schier Heights, Division 5.

The senior hockey team has been organized with the following officers: W. Miller, and H. Hammer, honorary presidents; B. Perry Talbot, manager; G. McCall, captain, and G. Laird, secretary-treasurer. Coronation's 30th annual bonspiel is scheduled to commence Feb. 23.

Gleaned From Rural News

VERMILION—The Vermilion high school drive for sale of war savings stamps has gone over the top after 11 days' effort. Aiming at $1,000 sale in 30 days the students passed the $2,040 mark before noon Wednesday. One girl has sold $375 worth and is leading the next competitor by $300.

ATHABASCA—Mrs. T. Will left Saturday to spend a month in Nelson, B.C. Miss Hildred Renison was married to Frank Beaton in the Anglican chapel. The Very Rev. Archbishop Little officiated. J. G. Baker Plans Run in Wetaskiwin

WETASKIWIN—A member of the Wetaskiwin provincial constituency association of the C.C.F. since its inception and its president for several years, J. G. Baker of Bittern Lake was nominated candidate in the next provincial election at a nominating convention held Wednesday afternoon in the co-operative hall.

A native of Ireland, he received his education in England and came to Canada in 1903. He settled in Alberta on a farm west of Wetaskiwin the next year and remained there until 1917 when he joined the 49th Battalion, the forerunner of The Loyal Edmonton Regiment. Going overseas the same year Mr. Baker was severely wounded towards the close of the war and returned to Canada in February 1918.

In 1920 he returned to farming in Western Canada, this time taking up a farm at Bittern Lake where he has remained to the present time. During his years in the Wetaskiwin district he has been prominent in C.C.F. affairs and has served as president of the Wetaskiwin provincial association for several terms. He has been a lay reader in the Anglican church at Bittern Lake for many years.

23 Candidates Penhold Council

RED DEER—Twenty-three candidates have been nominated for the 11 seats on the council of the new Municipal District of Penhold No. 350. Two councillors have been elected by acclamation and there will be contests in the other nine divisions. Voting takes place on Tuesday, Feb. 22, and with much interest being shown, it is expected the vote will be a heavy one. The new unit was set up at the first of the year, and provincial government officials have been working with secretaries of the former municipalities in taking over affairs. Five municipalities are included in the set-up—the municipalities of Pine Lake, Golden West, Hayes, Poplar Grove and Arthur.

Alex Ryrie was elected by acclamation in Division 5 and John Hillman to Division 7. Candidates nominated in the other nine divisions are: Div. 1, E. G. Christensen, T. H. Cole, and A. E. Prudholme; Div. 2, M. L. Keen, L. B. McKay; Div. 3, J. J. Brewster and W. C. Schaefer; Div. 4, A. B. McGorman and B. Parsonage; Div. 6, D. Pearson and P. A. Thompson; Div. 8, R. H. Edgar and D. M. Sawyer; Div. 9, Fred Domoney, James Cruickshank and R. A. Van Slyke; Div. 10, Charles M. McPhee and Thomas F. Cuddy; Div. 11, E. H. Wilton and B. G. Lawrence.

G. H. Biggs, of Elora is returning officer, and there are 31 polls. An agricultural short course will be held in the City Hall here on Thursday, Feb. 24, and Tuesday, Feb. 29. It will be under the auspices of the Red Deer Board of Trade with J. E. Birdsall, district agriculturist in charge.

MANVILLE—Four rinks from the Women's Curling Club of Manville attended the annual bonspiel at Vermilion, on Wednesday and Thursday of this week. The rinks were skipped by Mrs. R. B. Bennett, Mrs. G. Majou, Mrs. Len Manz and Mrs. D. Burch. The Manville club will hold its annual bonspiel Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday of next week.

McLENNAN—C. Connery, W. C. Hall, F. Wintermute and L. Roche have returned from Edmonton where they took part in the annual bonspiel. Mrs. W. Wotherspoon spent a few days in Edmonton. Mrs. M. LaBrier and Mrs. Von Dryden of Edmonton were recent visitors here. Mrs. G. Stephenson is visiting at Edmonton as guest of her parents Mr. and Mrs. G. McArthur. P. Giroux, A. Wotherspoon, H. R. Steeves, and H. Swift were nominated for town council. Elections will take place next week.

PONOKA—K. A. I. Peterson, 33-year-old employee of the Canadian Construction Company was killed instantly Monday Feb. 7, as the result of an accident at the gravel pit at Fort Saskatchewan. Peterson was run over by a cat tractor and R.C.M.P. announced the death accidental. No inquest will be held. Peterson was well-known in the Ponoka district where he operated a farm west of the town. His wife pre-deceased him in 1942. He is survived by four children between the ages of six and 12 years. The children are Edwin, Rita, Ingrid and Alfred. A funeral service was held in Ponoka Thursday at 2 p.m. Feb. 10.

WETASKIWIN—"The C.C.F. program in Canada is based on the physical fact that the standard of living can be as high as the natural resources of the country and the productivity of the people will permit," declared Elmer E. Roper, M.L.A., provincial leader of the C.C.F. party, at a public meeting held here Wednesday.

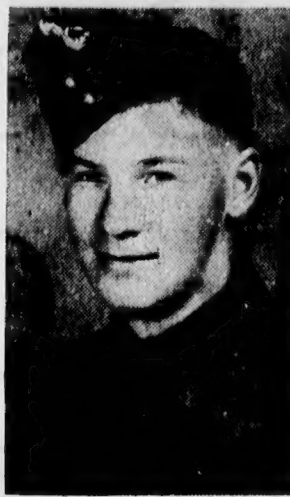

Mr. Roper was the principal speaker of the meeting which followed a nominating convention in the afternoon, at which J. G. Baker of Bittern Lake was named provincial C.C.F. candidate for the Wetaskiwin constituency. Mr. Baker also spoke at the meeting as well as W. Stevens, C.C.F. candidate for the Wetaskiwin Dominion constituency.

War Shortages, Prices Studied At Conference

Complaints of high prices, shortages, exorbitant rentals, and rationing difficulties were thoroughly thrashed out between representatives of consumers all across Canada and officials of the Wartime Prices and Trade Board, at the national conference of the Women's Regional Advisory Committees, held in Ottawa recently, according to Mrs. Frank J. Conroy, chairman of the Alberta advisory committee of the Wartime Prices and Trade Board.

Mrs. Conroy, who has just returned from Ottawa, reported that besides the 14 regional chairmen of Canada, 32 representatives of national women's organizations attended the conference, voicing complaints of consumers and asking for information to relay to consumers in their areas.

TO LABEL GARMENTS—In answer to complaints on high prices of clothing and deterioration of quality, representatives were told that by March 1st, all garments would have to be labelled by manufacturers under a new regulation of the W.P.T.B. Manufacturers have always been required to give full details of quality to W.P.T.B. officials but the labelling of garments with the W.P.T.B. license number and the mark of the manufacturer will simplify the tracing of poor quality articles.

The women were told that they represented 85 per cent of the buying public of Canada and should consider it their duty to report cases of inferior goods, or high prices to the W.P.T.B., who promise full protection to the complainant, Mrs. Conroy said.

Shortage of children's underwear was explained as the result of manufacturers working on war contracts, shortage of yarn and the lack of skilled help. However, the W.P.T.B. is now informing each manufacturer the amount of children's underwear he must produce this year. Children's shoes and warm woollen garments will be more plentiful this year also.

RAYON SHORTAGE—Lack of rayon is due to quantities being used in the making of synthetic rubber and Mrs. Conroy said the shortage of men's shirts, and yet the apparent abundance of women's shirts, was explained by the fact that the material used in the women's shirts was not suitable for men's shirts.

In reply to Mrs. Conroy's complaint that working girls on small salaries were being asked to pay high prices for single bedrooms in Edmonton, she was told that complaints should be made by individuals, who should give specific details and information, to the local rental control. General complaints in this line are useless to the officials without the direct information that enables investigation.

Canning sugar will still be issued at ten pounds per person this year, Mrs. Conroy says, plus whatever individuals can save from their "D" coupons. The "F" coupons in number three book will be used for canning sugar.

Number of sizes of tin cans, which was reduced from 114 to seven sizes by the W.P.T.B., will again be increased with the lessening of the demand for metals. The representatives were asked to find the opinions of the consumers regarding the sizes of tins most useful to them, Mrs. Conroy said.

Many other phases of food, clothing and other commodities were discussed at the conference.

STIFFER PENALTIES—At the conclusion of the conference the representatives passed a resolution recommending to the W.P.T.B. that penalties for infractions of W.P.T.B. regulations are not severe enough and urged fines and jail sentences be made stiffer to act as a deterrent, and in cases of third or fourth offences, those convicted should not have the option of a fine.

He has been overseas for 18 months and the latest word received by his parents reports he is recovering satisfactorily.

Another resolution passed at the conference was for continuance of such regulations and price controls which would avoid inflation and help Canada to help her part in the rehabilitation of the post-war world.

Two Women Nurses Killed When Shells Hit Field Hospital

By REYNOLDS PACKARD
Distributed by the Canadian Press.
AT THE ANZIO BEACHHEAD IN ITALY, Feb. 12.—Four German shells landing on a United States field hospital which was carefully marked with Red Cross flags both on the tent and spread on the ground killed two women nurses, wounded four medical officers, and wounded three men.

This makes a total of six women nurses killed on this beachhead since the landings three weeks ago today.

The other three women nurses were killed during the German air bombing of a United States evacuation hospital a few days ago.

Legislation Is Introduced For Sale of School Lands To Assist War Veterans

To authorize the minister of lands and mines to sell school lands to the director of the Veterans' Land Act, for use in re-establishment of returned members of the armed forces, a bill to amend the Provincial Lands Act was introduced into the Legislature Friday afternoon.

The bill decrees that the price of lands disposed of in this manner shall be set by two arbitrators, one to be appointed by the minister of lands and mines, and the other by the Dominion minister. Proceeds of such sales are to be paid into the school fund, as would be the case in a normal sale of the lands by auction.

The amending bill also amends the Lands Act to give the minister authority to make arrangements with Dominion government officers relating to the re-establishment of veterans of the armed services, and to fix compensations to be paid before the issue of a mining lease in the cases where the government feels the land surface will be destroyed.

SECOND AMENDING ACT

A second amending act, introduced by Hon. Dr. W. W. Cross, minister of health, concerns the Alberta Hospitals Act.

It gives the lieutenant-governor-in-council the power to prescribe regulations respecting the management, maintenance, operation of and accommodation in hospitals. The amendment is to remove any doubt as to powers of the governor-in-council to make regulations dealing with appointment, dismissal and suspensions on medical staffs of hospitals.

Another section of the amending legislation refers to the indigent residents of municipalities, and allows municipalities that are willing to do so, to pay more than $200 a year for treatment of such indigent patients, without imposing liability on the municipality's councillors.

A total of 18 bills were introduced at the Friday sitting of the House, with every cabinet minister with the exception of Hon. Solon E. Low, provincial treasurer and minister of education, bringing down one or more bills or amending bills.

AMENDING LEGISLATION

The amending legislation covered: The Dairymen's Act; the Threshers' Lien Act; the Government of Alberta Insurance Act; the Change of Name Act; the Interpretation Act; the Agricultural Relief Adjustment Act; the Fire Departments Platoon Act; the Bee Diseases Act; the Tax Recovery Act; the Tuberculosis Act; the Department of Public Health Act; the Assessment Act; the Public Service Vehicles Act; the Municipal Hospitals Act; and the Estates of the Mentally Incompetent Act.

One new bill, respecting the destruction of certain registered documents, was introduced by Hon. Lucien Maynard, K.C., attorney-general.

The registered documents legislation provides for the destruction of certain legal documents which have been on file for a period of 20 years, in offices of registration clerks of various judicial districts. The destruction is necessary to provide more filling space for new documents.

The Municipal Hospitals Act amendment is to provide that the election of a chairman and vice-chairman of district hospitals shall not be held until March, so that members elected at municipal elections held in February may be present.

The Assessment Act amendment makes clear the provision that a dormitory building operated by a school district or school division in a municipality, is to be exempt from assessment, together with the land upon which it is situated. It was introduced by Hon. C. E. Gendhart, minister of municipal affairs.

RECIPROCAL PLAN

Under the amendment to the Department of Public Health Act, it is provided that reciprocal arrangements shall be made between Alberta and other provinces, in respect to tubercular or mental patients. It is stated that in cases where Alberta residents are hospitalized on account of such diseases in other provinces, while residents from other parts of the country are hospitalized in Alberta, arrangements should be made to avoid moving such patients to their home provinces when they are not in fit condition to be moved.

The Tuberculosis Act amended is designed to permit the minister of health to enter into agreement with local authorities providing for treatment in sanatoria of non-tubercular lung diseases which can be best treated in such institutions.

The Agricultural Relief Adjustment Act authorizes the making of compromises with municipal districts of indebtedness to the government, arising out of seed grain and other relief advances made from time to time.

INSURANCE AMENDMENTS

The Insurance Act amendments make it clear that advances authorized to be made from the general revenue fund of the province are not confined to initial expenses, and that the provincial treasurer is obligated to advance out of revenue, any amounts necessary to pay claims under policies.

The amendments also provide that profits made by the Insurance Office up to $500 shall be retained, and only amounts over that sum shall be transferred to revenue funds.

The Threshers' Lien Act change is to discontinue the licensing of threshing machines, and the requirement calling for returns from persons operating threshing machines.

Sumner Welles Says Controversial Question Of European Frontiers Must Be Dealt With Now

This is the eleventh of a series of articles by Sumner Welles, former United States Under Secretary of State, which appear exclusively each week in The Edmonton Bulletin.—EDITOR.

By SUMNER WELLES

Former United States Under Secretary of State
From the time of our entrance into the second World War, our government has officially maintained the position that all decisions regarding territorial readjustments in Europe should be postponed until after the war is won. For many reasons this had seemed the wiser and the safer course to take.

From a purely military point of view, to raise during the war questions which are in the highest degree controversial, which probably involve differences of policy between the major members of the United Nations, and which are calculated to arouse deeply emotional passions on the part of many of the occupied peoples, can only endanger military unity and increase the problems and risk of military strategy.

Moreover, here in the United States there are great numbers of citizens closely bound by ties of origin to the European peoples most directly involved, and the debating of such problems during the war must inevitably create internal controversy and bitterness to the detriment of national unity, which is all-important when every energy of the nation must be dedicated to the war effort.

These are considerations of the greatest weight. They cannot be lightly brushed aside. But, notwithstanding our own legitimate reasons for desiring postponement, these questions have nevertheless been very forcefully raised in recent weeks.

MAKE DECISIONS NOW

The problem which confronts us today is whether the permanent interests of this country will not be better served by recognizing that the force of present circumstances is such as to make it imperative that at least certain of these decisions be made now, without further delay.

For the tides of war are moving, and moving fast, and with them they are bringing accomplished facts and creating established positions.

Short of some altogether unexpected development, upon the defeat of Germany, Soviet forces, which will so largely have contributed to that defeat, will be in occupation of what was the pre-war Poland. The Soviet government has announced with great clarity and vigor what it has determined the eastern frontiers of the future Poland must be.

What the United States seeks is to win the war, to obtain a peace founded upon the principles of wisdom and of justice set forth in the Atlantic Charter, and to participate in the creation of an international organization which will prevent the recurrence of war and insure world order and progress.

ACHIEVEMENT JEOPARDIZED

If the present situation is permitted to drift, if any real break is allowed to develop between the major powers of the United Nations, the achievement of the latter two objectives is inevitably jeopardized.

The highest qualities of statesmanship are required on the part of our own government in order that the issue involved in such questions as the determination of the frontiers of the future Poland shall not be permitted either to impair that closer relationship between the Soviet Union and the United States, which the President has so greatly helped to construct, or endanger the existence of that unity among the United Nations without which no lasting and successful international organization can be born.

BASIC FACTORS

Fortunately, there are certain basic factors which are favorable to a constructive solution. The Soviet Union, Great Britain and the United States have all officially declared that the reconstitution of a strong and independent Poland is an objective which they all three seek.

A strong and independent Poland is unquestionably an essential objective if peace and stability are to exist in Europe after this war is won. But the Polish people can only become strong and independent if they achieve security. And it is clear that they can only obtain real security through the existence of a practical, workable, international organization, and through the co-operative support of neighboring peoples, particularly the peoples of the Soviet Union.

They can only become strong and independent if they are granted every opportunity for healthy economic development, which again depends upon international, and particularly regional, co-operation.

They can only become strong and independent if their future governments possess full popular support.

They can only become strong and independent if the reconstituted Poland is a unified nation, rather than a nation which contains reluctant and antagonistic minorities. There is no nation of eastern Europe which would be more greatly strengthened in its future development than Poland

Far Northern Huskies to Assist Uncle Sam's Army Rescue Squads

Many officers and enlisted men at the U.S. Army Air Base here got their first glance at real live northern huskies here this week when a pack of them was on display for a few hours at the station.

The pack, made up of Siberian, Eskimo, Malamute and Mackenzie river huskies was brought from the north by Lt. Stuart A. Mace, expert dog trainer, who was taking them to the Army's war dog reception and training centre at Camp Rimini, Mont., which is located near Helena. Lt. Mace had just completed a lengthy trip through the north where he obtained the dogs from trappers, Indians, Eskimos and prospectors. They were assembled at a northern station and flown here by transport plane when four more British Columbia huskies were added to the pack. After a short stay here, the lieutenant loaded them on to another plane bound for Camp Rimini and there they will be trained by experts as pack dogs to work with rescue squads.

Lt. Mace related an account of his trip, and the methods used in securing and training the dogs. He told about attempting to buy a couple of dogs, one from a woman, who he said was a fine looking quarter-breed, and who made her living by hunting and trapping in the frigid regions of the north.

The other was an old trapper and prospector who had lived alone in the Yukon for many years. Both through the humanitarian and orderly transfer of peoples, under international regulation, in such a manner as to give the Polish people a durable, and not an artificial, unity, and to the Baltic Sea, and through the inclusion under Polish sovereignty of a homogeneous Polish population.

SOURCE OF DANGER

Poland's 1939 frontiers, both in the west and in the east, constituted a source of national danger and of continuing friction with her neighbors. There is nothing sacrosanct nor immutable about the treaties in which they were established.

What is sacrosanct is the Polish nation. The burning patriotism and faith which the Poles have maintained undimmed through generations of national betrayal, and even of national extinction, constitute a value which modern civilization cannot afford to place in jeopardy.

These problems must be settled and these difficulties must be faced. I fear the time is past when postponement of these decisions can result in anything more than in the exacerbation of already mounting bitterness, and in the asking of unilateral decisions. The part of present wisdom would seem to lie in grasping the nettle firmly, and in preventing the creation of a situation where these decisions can no longer be made by agreement among the United Nations.

Executive Council of the United Nations was never more necessary than it is today.

The Bulletin's SPORT SHOW by Hal Dean

SPORTS EDITOR

IT IS nothing unusual for Cliff Manahan to have his basket reasonably well filled with wins to start out the sixth day of the Edmonton bonspiel, but nevertheless it does seem somewhat of a coincidence that he should find himself in the identical position on the same day two years in succession.

At the conclusion of the fifth day of the bonspiel in '43, the Manahan rink had recorded a total of 13 victories, was out in the finals of the Edmonton Breweries Ltd. (Grand Challenge) and King Edward Hotel events and in the fourth of the Edmonton Motors (City), with a possible four games left to play. Evidently Cliff and his men are curling true to form, for that is exactly the same situation which confronts them this morning.

The Manahan rink a year ago won both the Challenge and City as well as the aggregate, but lost out to Bert Robertson of the Granite in the King Edward, Manahan's opponent in the latter event this time is Billy Rose of Sedgewick and he will meet the winner of the Purvis, Crossfield-McLaughlin, Royal, game in the Edmonton Breweries final. And Cliff will play the survivor of the Kemp-McBride semi-final in the Edmonton Motors.

Kenesaw Landis Says Deferments Not To Be Asked

CHICAGO, Feb. 12.—(AP)—

Kenesaw Mountain Landis, commissioner of baseball, announced last night that club owners in professional baseball would not ask for preferential draft treatment of their players during the war.

The commissioner's statement was occasioned by the exchange of correspondence between Stephen Early, secretary of President Roosevelt, and J. G. T. Spink of St. Louis, publisher of Sporting News, a weekly paper devoted chiefly to baseball. Spink sought an expression from the White House on the game's future during the war.

"Mr. Spink is not a member of the baseball organization and does not speak for anybody but himself," Landis said in his statement. "Nobody authorized to speak for professional baseball has requested preferential treatment of any kind for any player. Most emphatically, no such request will be made while we are engaged in this war."

Manahan Rink Undeclared With 13 Wins

Stadium Bantams Beat Calder 7-1 In Canadian Loop

The Stadium Flyers hung up their fifth win in six starts in the Canadian Athletic Club Bantam Hockey League when they skated to a 7-1 conquest over the Calder Bantams in a game played at the Stadium rink last night.

The Calder kids drew first blood in last night's fixture when Charlie Duncan flashed the red light after two minutes of play. The Flyers then took over for the balance of the period and counted 4 times: Erwin unassisted, George Lawrence from Mike Barabash, Terry Melnychuk from Stan Cudmore and Peter Carp unassisted, being the order.

Eddie Wiederspiel added another for the winners in the second frame and the Flyers counted two more in the final session. Donald Flach scored on a play with Erwin and Barabash scored on a solo effort.

LINEUPS
Stadium Flyers—Randolph, Lawrence, Barabash, Haley, Grace, Carp, Wiederspiel, Cudmore, Melnychuk, Ferguson, Erwin, Flach, Behm, Diakiw, Pasancon.
Calder—Fox, Taylor, Benwood, Pierce, Duncan, Couturier, McDonald, Barnes, Elliot, Brown, Chandler.

Bissell and Bees Score Triumphs Girls' Basketball

Bissell defeated Spruce Grove 24-20 and Y. Bees trounced Aircraft Repair 33-18 in the two City Girls' Basketball League games played at the Y.W.C.A. Friday night.

Bella Riddle and Dorothy Myers paced the Bissell girls with eight and seven points respectively while Helen Callahan came through with 10 counters for the losers in that contest.

The game was close all the way and was marked by stiff checking, but the winners managed to hold off the Spruce Grove club to win out.

In the other contest every member of the Y. Bees' lineup entered the scoring, headed by Kay Heim with 17 and Vera Hole with 10. Ruth Moore was high point-getter for the Aircraft Repair team with eight.

The fixture was close, but the Bees displayed a decided edge in shooting accuracy.

Following are the lineups:
Bissell—Gwen Riddle 3, Bella Riddle 8, Dorothy Chandler, Jean Chandler 6, Dorothy Myers 7, Dot Quilley, Edith Skitch, Millie Pulishay, Total 24.

Spruce Grove—Helen Callahan 10, Doreen Elder 2, Rolande Brault, Mary Ficker 4, Dorothy Jones 4, Ann Mendryk 4, Lucille Ardent, Kay Odynek, Total 20.

Y. Bees—Heim 17, Tiviotdale 2, Cragg 2, Hole 10, Kays 2, Total 33.

Aircraft—Ferrier 4, Moore 8, Highest 4, Chambers 2, Angus, Smashnuk, Ainslie, Total 18.

Verdicts To Be Announced

Now Ring Judges in Garden

Targets for "Pitching" Fans

By WHITNEY MARTIN

NEW YORK, Feb. 12.—(AP)—They are going to announce the individual votes of the referee and judges after each main event of Madison Square Garden boxing shows in the future, and unless some of the officials suddenly are gifted with better eyesight or judgment the ringsiders had better wear their crash helmets. Those deceased bottles and other bric-a-brac looping down from the peanut gallery leave

dents.

The system was tried out Wednesday night at the Tipity Larkin-Lulu Costantino bout and the test case was satisfactory, although it wasn't what might be called an acid test. The fight was so one-sided that even Costantino probably would have voted with the officials for Larkin.

Some of the decisions we have seen rendered at the Garden, and elsewhere, for that matter, would have brought down the house, chair by chair, had the individual voting been announced immediately. It's bad enough when the fans disagree with the majority decision, but when they can pick out one or two men as definite targets they might not miss.

Disregarding the danger of great personal harm to ringsiders, the idea seems sound, in that referees and judges will be pretty careful how they score. In the past, knowing their voting would remain anonymous until it appeared in the papers the next morning, they had little to fear, for by next morning they could change their names and move to another state if necessary.

Leafs' Bantam Hockey League Ends Schedule

The Maple Leaf Bantam Hockey League wound up its 1943-44 schedule on Wednesday night when the Bombers handed the Beavers a 5-2 setback and received the two points which brought them up to a tie with the Dynamiters at 13 points each.

The Bombers were in third place with seven points and the Spitfires trailed the loop with only one.

The playoffs for the league championship will start on Monday. The Bombers and Beavers will play two games (total goals to count) for the right to meet the Dynamiters in the best of three game series. The winner of the latter playoff will represent the Maple Leafs for the city championship in a series with the other local bantam league champions.

It has also been decided to pick an all star team from the four Maple Leaf teams to play exhibitions. The first of these games will be played on the 96 street rink at 4 o'clock today.

The all-star lineup is as follows: McNeil, Stack, Barry, Krys, McPherson, Eldor, Thomas, Don Brown, Margard, Frank Collingard, McNally, Deidrick, Hervey Collingard.

8 Finalists Declared in Six Events

By HAL DEAN

HANGING four additional scalps to their victory belts, Cliff Manahan's curlers from the Royal Club ran their list of consecutive wins to 13 on Friday, the fifth day of the annual bonspiel of the Alberta Curling Association.

As a result, the only unbeaten rink in the 'spiel moved into the finals of the Edmonton Breweries Ltd. (Grand Challenge) and King Edward Hotel events and the semi-final of the Edmonton Motors (City), with at least three and possibly four games still to play.

Manahan marked up three of his wins on successive draws. He stopped Harold Ritchie 12-7 in the King Edward at 11:30 and followed with a 10-7 decision over Jack McIntyre in the Edmonton Motors in the 2 o'clock. He then eliminated Bert Robinson of Jasper in their Edmonton Breweries semi-final at 4:30 and wound up the day with a 10-5 count against Whit Matthews in the King Edward fours on the late draw.

In addition to Manahan, six other finalists were declared yesterday—Hills of Calgary in the Bank of Montreal, Billy Rose of Sedgewick in the King Edward, McLaren, from Alberta Ave., and Dultman of Wetaskiwin in the Eaton, Bob Robinson of Edson in the Calgary Brewing and McLaughlin in the Edmonton Motors.

George McLaughlin's rink undefeated with 12 victories up to the 7 o'clock draw, was finally stopped by Billy Rose in the King Edward fours. The game ended with nine of the 12 ends played. Earlier in the day McLaughlin had won his Challenge game from McConachie of Cochrane by 10-8 and he advanced to the City final by beating Willis of the Edmonton Club 11-9 on the 2 o'clock draw.

Purvis of Crossfield defeated Dr. Gurney of Sexsmith 7-3 for a semi-final berth in the Edmonton Breweries event and was drawn to play McLaughlin at 9 o'clock this morning for the remaining final slot.

Hills of Calgary reached the final round in the Bank of Montreal by winning 10-8 from Metz, Alberta Ave., but he had to go 13 ends to do it.

Rose of Sedgewick secured his final bracket in the King Edward by knocking over Kemp of the Royal 8-6 on the 11:30 draw and the going, McLaughlin's initial setback on the 7 o'clock draw.

Dultman of Wetaskiwin won from Ferry, Cadogan, to go into the Eaton final where he will meet McLaren of Alberta Ave., who eliminated Key of Hughenden in the top bracket of the semi-final.

Bob Robinson of Edson won from Brinkworth of Jasper in the Calgary Brewing (Visitors) semi-final and will meet the winner of the Berreth, Hardisty-Key, Hughenden game.

McLaughlin was the only finalist out in Edmonton Motors at the commencement of play this morning.

Following are the complete results for Friday:

Aircraft Trims N.W.D. Hospital Bows to Yanks To Force 4th Place Tie

U.S. Station Hospital Cagers were forced into a fourth place tie with Quartermasters in "A" section of the Edmonton Men's Basketball League Friday night when they were overcome by U.S. Army Yanks 44-31 at Westglen in a fast feature attraction marked by a rough third quarter. This was the last scheduled fixture for these two squads. The Aircraft Repair club finished on top of "B" bracket standings by downing North West Division 44-21 in the curtain raiser.

The return of Joe Long, who led the Yanks along with Paul Blawie with 11 points, marked the second win for the Air Corps team in four starts in the second round. Wayne Adams turned in the most effective performance for the victors, but was held to only eight counters.

Warren Taubee and Nick Smagula paced the Hospital squad with 13 and six points respectively. Although he did not score an outstanding number of markers, Smagula played great offensive basketball while Taubee chalked up eight in the first quarter when he was hitting his usual stride, but tired badly and was held to five in the remainder of the game.

Shooting accuracy on field goals for both teams was on the poor side, but the Yanks were almost perfect on free shots, counting on 14 of 15 while Hospital only made five out of 10. Blawie was the only Yank to miss one, but he scored five of six awarded him.

With Taubee's eight points and Smagula, Phil Lark and Leonard Woodring getting two each, the losers out-scored the Airmen 14-8 in the first quarter to build up a nice quarter time margin. But the Yanks began some very close checking in the second stanza and came back to add seven to a lone field basket by Smagula of Hospital to come within one point, 16-15, at the half way mark.

The rough third quarter spelled the medical men's doom as the Yanks hit a fast pace and marked up 15 counters, Adams firing six. Blawie four, Miller three and Long and John Vandenberg each, to out-score the losers 15-5 and take a 30-21 lead entering the home stretch.

There was no letting up in the fourth quarter for either team however, and both continued the fast play, but the Yanks managed to do a little better than hold their own while Hospital and marked up 14 while the latter were only counting 10.

NEW YORK, Feb. 12.—Old Charley Harvey, one of the most pathetically picturesque figures the fight game has known, is dead. This "great man" of another pugilistic era died broke and crippled, but still pondering the puzzle: "What happened to Steve Hamas?"

Harvey, 79 years old, died Wednesday night while on his way to Madison Square Garden to witness the Tippecanoe Lulu Constantine fight. His best friends say Charley was lucky that he died before, and not after that bout, which was a dull, top-sided affair.

It was purgatory for Charley to sit through a top-sided contest in his closing years—after he came back from Germany in 1935—after watching Max Schmeling "molder" Steve Hamas at Hamburg and knock him out in the ninth round.

"DIED AT HAMBURG"
OFFICIALLY Charley Harvey died Wednesday night; but actually he died at Hamburg on the night of March 10, 1935, when Hamas, the great hope of his entire life, was given one of the worst beatings any heavyweight ever took. Harvey was criticized afterwards for allowing Hamas to take this nine-round beating. His critics said he should have thrown in the towel early, when it became apparent that Hamas had no chance.

But old Charley threw in no towel. Until the last, he couldn't believe what he saw. Charley managed Tom Heeney of New Zealand in his heavyweight title bout with Gene Tunney. He managed seaman Tom Watson of England in his featherweight title fight against Kid Chocolate. He managed hundreds of other fighters—many of whom he knew had no chance in their big-money fights.

But the confidence of a lifetime was concentrated in Hamas, the former Penn State football player, whom he regarded as the greatest heavyweight he ever saw. Hamas, a ripping, tearing ball of fire stimulated that confidence during most of his career. Although a college man, Hurricane Steve was one of the most explosively busy heavies ever to toss leather. In 1931, for example, he had 16 bouts, of which he won 15 by quick knockouts and one by decision.

HAMAS DISAPPEARED
ANCIENT Charley, who had made thousands of dollars in the fight game—and lost it in real estate, was positive that his beloved pugilism would resurrect him when he saw young Hamas climax his climb to the top by giving Max Schmeling a thorough beating at Philadelphia, Feb. 13, 1934. In October of that same year, Hamas won a 10-round decision over Art Lasky, menacing master of the left hook.

With confidence, Harvey accepted a return match with Schmeling at Hamburg for March 10, 1935.

What happened to Hamas between October and March, the world may never know truthfully. There were stories about his going "society"—or palling around with the upper-strata gals.

Anyway, the New York boxing writers went down the bay on a coast guard cutter to meet Charley and Steve when they returned on the Ile De France from their disastrous Hamburg trip. They found two men at the end of their trails—Harvey distraught and full of giggles; Hamas still fuzzy mentally from the beating he had taken. Hamas never fought again. Harvey never managed again. He

Freddie Mills Challenges Louis To Title Fight

LONDON, Feb. 12.—(CP)—Sgt. Freddie Mills of the R.A.F. and the light heavyweight champion of the British Empire, Friday challenged Sgt. Joe Louis, world heavyweight king, to a title bout "if and when" the American comes to Britain.

(The United States war department in Washington announced Thursday that Louis soon will be sent overseas to entertain United States servicemen in a series of exhibition bouts.)

Ted Broadbrib, Mills' manager, who guided Tommy Farr in his bout with Louis, said he had cabled the challenge to promoter Mike Jacobs in New York and said he suggested that the proceeds be given to some charity selected by an Anglo-American committee.

Mills is a leading contender for the British heavyweight title and two years ago defeated R.A.F. Pilot Officer Len Harvey who held both the light heavyweight and heavyweight Empire titles. However, only the former crown was at stake at the time.

In New York, Jacobs, promoter for the 20th Century Sporting Club and holder of a contract to promote all of Louis' bouts, said he had not received the cable challenge from Broadbrib.

Jug McSpaden Takes Over Lead In Texas Open

SAN ANTONIO, Tex., Feb. 12.—(AP)—Harold (Jug) McSpaden defied near-freezing temperatures and a stiff wind yesterday to batter par on Brackenridge course by four strokes for a 67 and the lead in the first round of the Texas open golf tournament.

The Philadelphia professional, top money-winner on the winter tour, hung up a 33 on the first nine and a 34 on the second. His four-below-par performance left him two strokes to the good over three other professionals—Johnny Revolta of Evansville, Ill., Pete Copey of Gainesville, Fla., and Bob Hamilton of Evansville, Ind.

Twelve pros bettered or equaled par on these first 18 holes of a 72-hole, $5,000 tournament. Grouped behind Revolta, Cooper and Hamilton were Sam Byrd of Philadelphia, Abe Espinosa of Brownsville, Tex.; Craig Wood of Mamaroneck, N.Y., and Leonard Dodson of Kansas City, each with a 70.

Far down the list with a 75 was Byron Nelson of Toledo, Ohio, one of the tournament favorites.

MAPLE LEAFS clinched first place in the City Midget Hockey League Friday night when they turned back the Stadium Flyers 3-2 in their final scheduled appearance of the season.

The win for the Leafs left Edmonton Athletic Club in second spot, just one point behind, Canadians in third and South Side in fourth. There is one more scheduled game, between South Side and Maples, but it can't have any effect on playoff berths.

The Leafs were paced in their seventh win of the season by Stan Patterson and Dennis Smith with a goal and an assist each. Patterson opened the scoring in the first period on a three-way passing play with Barry and Smith to give the Maple Leafs a 1-0 lead. Flyers came back early in the second session and tied it up with a goal by Boyd, but Collingwood drove home a relay from Stewart and Grant finished off a play with Patterson to make it 3-1 for the winners before the period ended. The Flyers cut the lead in the third canto by one when Carp scored, but they were unable to whip out the Leaf lead.

Transfer of Airmen Is Being Considered

OTTAWA, Feb. 12.—(CP)—Hon. Cyrus MacMillan, parliamentary undersecretary to Air Minister Power, told P.L. Lt. James Sinclair (L-Vancouver North) in the commons yesterday that a British-Canadian conference here is considering the transfer of Canadian personnel of the R.A.F. into the R.C.A.F. He said it is hoped "a final and mutually satisfactory agreement will be reached."

Major And Minor Notes

By John Oliver

ALTHOUGH the debut here of Jan Peerce, tenor of the Metropolitan Opera Association, does not take place for nearly three weeks—Friday, March 3, is the exact date—there is unusual interest in his visit, according to information collected by various operatives who, from time to time, communicate intelligence to this column. Indications are that he will sing to an overflow audience, which has been the prevailing condition with the successive series of concerts. Mr. Peerce will provide the grand climax and finale for the season, and evidently will do so in the proverbial blaze of glory. From Mrs. Ernest Meaden, manager of the series, comes a pronouncement to the effect that even at this early date there are many requests for seats that cannot be provided, thus pointing to even the rush accommodation being fully occupied.

That those who attend will be treated to an exceptionally fine program is assured. Your correspondent has had a preview of the contents thereof, but for concert security reasons they cannot be divulged pending confirmation. But you may rest assured that you are in for a treat. There are a couple of outstanding oratorio arias to start with, and next in line is one of the most famous and finest opera arias. The lieder and art songs are well varied and on a high plane.

Owing to delay in arrival of orchestral parts and other rehearsal material the Edmonton Civic Opera Society production of Rudolf Friml's musical play Katinka, scheduled for the Strand theatre March

To Play Here

Elsie Persson, Lethbridge violinist, who will be the guest artist at the regular meeting of the Women's Musical Club at the Masonic Temple next Saturday.

28, 29 and 30, has been postponed until April, on dates yet to be set. Mrs. James B. Carmichael, general director, has been scanning the mails eagerly for the orchestral parts, but they have not yet arrived. As soon as they do, the instrumentalists will be called together and intensive work will be the order of the day.

In the meantime Mrs. Carmichael is busy selecting the cast. This phase of the proceedings is not yet complete, but she has allotted roles to Noreen Bristow, Shirley Neher, Joseph Nadeau, John Markle, Dennis Olsen, and one or two others. Laurier Picard, who did much to establish the comedy parts as one of the outstanding features of civic opera productions, but who for the last year has forsaken performance on the stage for direction behind the scenes, will blossom this time in the dual role of producer and comedian. He has comedy situations that will afford him many chances to equal his performances in The Desert Song and other shows.

Next Saturday the regular meeting of the Women's Musical Club at the Masonic Temple will take the form of a recital by Elsie Persson, Lethbridge violinist. Miss Persson has won an enviable reputation both as a soloist and teacher. She began studying the violin when she was six years old, with Therese McAvoy of Fort William, a pupil of Otokar Sevek in Berlin, and Leopold Auer. When she was 16 she won the western music festival open violin competition, and went on to the Toronto Conservatory of Music for study under Dr. Luigi von Kunin.

In 1936 she entered the teaching field and became director of music in one of Ottawa's junior high schools. She continued this work for five years, during which time she appeared also as soloist at many Ottawa concerts, and conducted school choirs. In 1941 she was appointed supervisor of school music in Ottawa, but she resigned this post to be married.

Since coming to Lethbridge where her husband is stationed, she has won the Clifford Jones cup for the open violin class in the Alberta

Legislature Hears Strong Plea for Debt-Free Money

Member Says War Proves Decent Standard of Living Can Be Provided for All

The present war has taught Canadians that there can be no excuse for the Dominion government to say when peace returns that there is no money available with which to give the people of the country a decent standard of living, S. A. Berg, Social Credit M.L.A. for Alexandra constituency, said in the Legislature Friday afternoon.

Mr. Berg was seconding a government motion to adopt the Speech from the Throne, which was moved earlier Friday by David A. Ure, Social Credit M.L.A. for Red Deer constituency.

The speaker called for issuing of debt-free money, in a review of legislation which had been passed by the Social Credit government since it took office in 1935.

"In 1936 we passed the fairest debt legislation that has ever been proposed by any government," said Mr. Berg. "We told the creditors that we could and would meet all our principal debts, but could not continue to pay interest and compound interest."

BITTERLY ATTACKED

"This measure was most bitterly attacked by our opposition. Once again the little yellow book came into prominence, and was thumbed until the print was almost worn from its pages. We were going to make bums out of all our people. They would not work, or help themselves in the least if we were to give them $25 a month, and we would bankrupt the country on top of that."

"Let us look at the picture again today," continued Mr. Berg.

"Hundreds of thousands of our young men and women are receiving food, clothing and shelter and a dividend besides, and their dependents are also receiving dividends. I am not objecting to this. The only objection that I could offer is that they are not receiving enough. But Mr. Speaker, if this is possible in wartime, it must be made possible in peacetime."

"We read in our newspapers of a proposed program of family allowances to be granted by our federal government. It can be done. Continued on Page Seventeen

Around the Town

The University of Alberta observatory, if weather is favorable, will be open to the public at 8 p.m. Saturday. Saturn will be observed.

The British Imperial Comrades' Association will hold its monthly meeting at Imperial hall, 10020 102 avenue, at 8:30 p.m. Monday.

Regular meeting of the Northern Alberta Fish and Game Protective League will be held in the Corona hotel Friday, Feb. 18, at 8 p.m. There will be discussions by Dr. William Rowan and Dr. R. B. Miller.

The Lighted School House was the subject of an address by Leonard Bercuson, the secretary of the Alberta Adult Education Association, to parents of West Jasper Place School District. Mr. Bercuson told of enterprises in adult education in Nova Scotia, California, Iowa and Quebec. He pointed out that democracy depends for its effectiveness upon alert, well-educated citizens. It is therefore necessary to open the schools at night for classes in a wide variety of subjects. Throughout the continent, more and more people are becoming aware of this necessity and the lighted school house is becoming increasingly popular. The meeting was sponsored by the West Jasper Place Home and School Association.

Tram System Sets New 1-Day Record

Patronage of Edmonton's street railway system reached an all-time single day total on Saturday, Feb. 5, according to a statement filed Saturday with the city commissioners by Thomas Ferrier, street railway superintendent.

Last Saturday 128,116 passengers were carried by the system compared with 127,541 on Dec. 18, 1943, the previous record single day of traffic, an increase of 575.

Patronage on the corresponding day of February, 1943, was 110,828, to give an increase for Feb. 5 this year of 15.5 per cent.

City Barrister Wins Wings at R.C.A.F. School

Sgt. Charles Augustus Perkins, former member of the Territorial Court of the North West Territories, was among those who received pilot wings from Air Vice Marshal G. R. Howsam, M.C., air officer commanding No. 4 Training Command at wings' parade at 10 S.F.T.S., Vulcan, on Thursday.

Sgt. Perkins was born in Calgary, son of George C. Perkins. He received his elementary education at Vancouver and Prince George, B.C., later returning to Calgary where he was graduated from Western Canada College. He attended the University of Alberta from 1930 to 1936, majoring in law.

After graduation from the University of Alberta, Sgt. Perkins was articled to Wood, Buchanan and MacDonald here. In 1937 he was admitted to the bar of Alberta, and in 1938 to the bar of the North West Territories.

In 1938 he married Helen Ford, daughter of Judge C. J. Ford of Calgary and also a graduate of the University of Alberta Law School. They formed the law firm of Perkins and Perkins and practiced in Edmonton until 1940.

Speaker Rules Warner M.L.A. Out of Order

James Walker, Independent M.L.A. for Warner constituency and head of the Independent Citizens' Association of Alberta, was ruled out of order by Mr. Speaker Peter Dawson of the Alberta Legislature Friday afternoon, when he attempted to protest the reading of a letter by the Speaker earlier in the afternoon.

The letter was from the Rt. Hon. Lord Sempill, who sat on the floor of the Legislature during opening ceremonies Thursday, thanked the Speaker for the courtesy extended, and went on to outline the need of a new "financial technique." The letter said the British Empire had immense responsibility in the matter of the new technique, or economic system.

ADDRESSES SPEAKER

Just before the house adjourned sittings until Monday, Mr. Walker rose and addressed the Speaker. "I desire to enter a protest over the reading of the letter from Lord Sempill, because of the contentious nature of the political things that were touched upon," he said.

"You are out of order," Speaker Dawson ruled, pointing out that the throne speech was under consideration.

"Sit down!" a Social Credit backbencher interjected.

Mr. Walker then moved adjournment of the throne debate, and the letter incident closed. The Independent leader will open the debate Monday afternoon when the house re-convenes.

ORDERED TABLED

First indications of an Independent protest over the reading of Lord Sempill's letter by Mr. Speaker were seen just after the reading had been completed. George MacLachlan, Independent whip from Pembina constituency, asked if it would be tabled.

The Speaker ordered the letter tabled immediately.

Hasten THEIR VICTORIOUS HOMECOMING

Join The "25 Club" Right Away!

... And Here's What Your Thrifty War Savings Stamps Will Do for You!

Each of the "25 Club" books contains the twelve months of the year, with stamping provisions for eight stamps per month—two 25c stamps per week for a year—a total saving of $24.00, and if these stamps, during the year, are invested in War Savings Certificates they will give you a return, at maturity, of $30.00. (Certificates valued at $5.00, $10.00 and $25.00 may be purchased at any Bank or Post Office in exchange for stamps). This increase of 25% represents interest at 3% compounded semi-annually.

● No income tax is payable on the difference between purchase price and redemption value of War Savings Certificates.

Join the "25 Club" and hasten their victorious homecoming, and when the war is over, War Savings Certificates will pay for the things you want to buy—so keep on saving till the job is done—then take your choice of the things to come.

● By increasing your weekly stamp purchases to four 25c stamps per week, your savings will be double the above estimates.

DR. BOBBS

IT'S ABOUT 1915—REMEMBER THE FASHIONS OF THAT ERA?

BLAIR ANGELL TELLS DR. BOBBS HIS AMAZING STORY.

FROM CHILDHOOD ON, THIS CHUBBY FACE OF MINE MADE ME THE LOGICAL CHOICE OF ALL THE DOTTING MOTHERS IN THE WORLD AS THE PERFECT CHILD!

BECAUSE I RESENTED FIERCELY THIS ENFORCED HALO I WORE, I LISTENED SYMPATHETICALLY TO A WOMAN NAMED REGINA VICTOR.

POOR, DEAR, BORED BLAIR—IF YOU WANT EXCITEMENT, WHY DON'T YOU JOIN OUR LITTLE CLUB—?

THE GUY WAS A REAL CROWD OF COUNTERPARTERS. IT WAS ANYTHING BUT A TREMENDOUS SATISFACTION IN BEING INVOLVED IN CRIMINAL ACTIVITY.

TILLIE

PUT ON YOUR COAT AND COME ALONG, MUMMY.

THERE'S A UGLY CAR LOT DOWN THE STREET. I WANT TO HAVE A PEEP AT THEM.

WHAT IS THE WORLD DO YOU WANT TO LOOK AT CARE?

I WAS THINKING HOW NICE IT WOULD BE TO HAVE ONE TO RUN AROUND IN.

GOSH, MUMMY, IT DOESN'T COST ANYTHING TO JUST THINK ABOUT IT!

TOOTS

CASPER MUST BE MAD, BEATING ME UP FOR NO REASON!

I CAN'T UNDERSTAND IT!

CASPER IS HERE, DAN!

HE'S AFTER ME—HE MUST WANT TO FINISH ME OFF!

I'LL TALK TO HIM!

COLONEL HOOVER, I OWE YOUR NEPHEW AN APOLOGY. I SPOKE HIM, BECAUSE I THOUGHT HE WAS MIKE MONNER!

HE IS MIKE MONNER, CASPER—BORNLY KNOWN AS PLAIN HANK HOOVER.

WE'LL, I'LL BE—SAY, DOES HE STILL WANT TO BUY MY HOUSE?

HE MIGHT, CASPER, BUT FIRST YOU'LL HAVE TO CATCH HIM—IT LOOKS AS IF HE'S OUT TO BREAK THE RECORD FOR THE 100-YARD DASH!

WASH TUBS

WE'LL SEE THAT CAPTAIN EASY MEETS SELANCA ON AN EQUAL FOOTING WITH THAT HANDSOME NATIVE CHIEF, MAJOR. I'VE MADE ARRANGEMENTS AT THE HOTEL!

I'M COLONEL FOXCOURT, CAPTAIN EASY. THIS IS MAJOR SHIMMONS, ALSO READY FOR OF BRITISH INTELLIGENCE.

GLAD TO MEET YOU, CAPTAIN EASY. MEN, I'M SHIMMONS, ALSO READY FOR OF BRITISH INTELLIGENCE.

BEFORE I INTRODUCE YOU TO YOUR DUTIES, CAPTAIN, A CERTAIN AMOUNT OF...ER...PREPARATION IS NECESSARY, SUCH AS...

...BARBER, MANICURIST, BOOTBLACK AND VALET!

SAY! WHAT KIND OF A JOB DO I HAVE TO DO HERE, COLONEL?

FRECKLES

THE ALCOHOLIC CLUB PICKED A BAD NIGHT FOR ITS DANCE. IT SEEMS THAT HAL KROONER IS ON THE AIR TONIGHT, AND YOU KNOW HOW THE CHICKS FEEL ABOUT HIM!

NOT A GAL IN THE JOINT!

GOSH, I THOUGHT IF WE WENT STAG, WE COULD CUT IN ON SOMEBODY!

JUST BECAUSE THEY STAYED HOME TO LISTEN TO HAL KROONER, ARE WE GOING TO SPOIL OUR FUN?

NO—A THOUSAND TIMES NO!

OH, MISS SMITH, YOU SMELL DIVINE! WHAT KIND OF HAIR OIL ARE YOU WEARING?

I BIT THAT TO ALL THE BOYS!

ALLEY OOP

OKAY, ZEL! NOW YOU CAN TELL GUY WHEN THOSE KIDNAPERS BEGAN TO GET PANICKY WITH WHAT'S LEFT I FELT SURE YOU WERE NEAR!

MEANWHILE, I'LL GO ON WITH THIS TRAIL IS HOT!

WELL, HERE'S WHERE THEM PEOPLE-STEALERS ARE HIDIN'—HURRY! QUICK! A GANG OF THUGS!

SAY! GADGETRY TO DOCK EYE!

BOOTS

MIZ TUTT—AND LIKE A WORD WITH YEN! AM FEELS PLUMB ONGRATFUL ON ACCOUNT OF WHAT AN AINS T'SAY, BUT—

WHAT IS IT, MAMIE LOU?

WELL, IT'S THIS AWNY. MAM—LEETIE LIZA FEELS DOWNRIGHT CRAMPED MYAR IN TH' CITY.

OF COURSE IT'S FAIR, MERRY!—IT'S A CHARACTER BUILDER, AND I'LL SHOW 'EM WE HAVE THE STUFF TO BUILD WITH!

DICK TRACY

WHY ARE YOU SO INTERESTED IN THE KID THAT FELL THROUGH THE ICE, TRACY?

OH, I'M JUST ANXIOUS TO KNOW WHERE HE GOT ALL THAT BIG MONEY.

DO YOU THINK IT HAS ANYTHING TO DO WITH FLAT TOP?

DON'T KNOW, JUST CURIOUS ABOUT IT. THAT'S ALL. WELL, HERE WE ARE.

YES, SIR. THIS ALBUM WILL BE MY SAFETY DEPOSIT BOX WHEN I GET THROUGH WITH IT. IT'LL HOLD MY ENTIRE WAD.

SO, WHILE TRACY AND PAT APPROACH THE HOUSE FROM THE FRONT, THE MOTHER OF THE DROWNED BOY IS JUST RETURNING FROM HER WAR PLANT JOB.

Eleanor Roosevelt MY DAY

NEW YORK.—Saturday night we went to see Katharine Cornell and Raymond Massey in a play called "Lovers and Friends" by Dodie Smith.

The reviews have been none too good on this play and so I wonder whether the fact that I liked it so much was because the people seemed to me real people and behaved somewhat the way they would have behaved when I was a young woman!

I confess I thought the husband lacked a little subtlety in announcing his love affair, but the rest of the play was full of subtle meaning to me. While perhaps one should not expect evenings of entertainment to teach one any lessons, there is one in this play which men and women would do well to learn.

It is obviously true that the first flush of being "in love" always changes into something deeper and calmer, or more superficial. I have known only a very few happy marriages. By that I do not mean just people who get along together and live contentedly through life, but people who are really excitingly happy. These people are those who have somehow preserved the ability to recapture the romance of the early days and rejuvenate their love so that neither the man nor the woman need wander off to find the romance they long for somewhere else.

The play shows that it is not the people who happen to attract each other temporarily who really matter. It is the lure of romance—finding someone new to tell about yourself, someone who will give you a feeling that what you say is important and that they have never heard it before, someone who will give you the feeling that you are more important and alluring than a previous engagement, or a book, or people, or perhaps even a career. This may be a lesson worth learning or perhaps you think I'm wrong. In any case, Katharine Cornell and Raymond Massey give you a pleasant evening and some very fine acting.

Incidentally, I noticed one thing in going around with the Army and Navy last Saturday. This war is giving an opportunity for men who might never have met during the course of their whole existence to know each other and to know each other very well. Jimmy O'Hara from Massachusetts and Johnny Jones from South Carolina will know a great deal more about how and why certain things happen in their respective states. General Jarman, who has a great interest in human beings, can almost invariably pick out the state from which a man comes and his occupation when looking at him. He made only one mistake in a whole morning!

Bride-Elect Is Entertained

Miss Isobel Evelyn Sinclair, daughter of Dr. R. D. Sinclair, dean of agriculture at the University of Alberta, and Mrs. Sinclair, a bride-elect of next week has been guest of honor at a number of social gatherings recently. Mrs. J. Macgregor Smith entertained at luncheon Tuesday, and Miss Mildred Longman gave a miscellaneous shower Tuesday evening at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. O. S. Longman.

Miss Sue Sanford was a dinner hostess when she entertained at the Macdonald hotel Monday night and Miss Betty Wilson held a miscellaneous shower Wednesday evening.

Miss Ruth Lawrie and Miss Marion Tuck were co-hostesses at an evening party at the former's home Friday evening and on Sunday at the Macdonald hotel Mrs. Gordon McCannell and Miss Agnes Thorburn will entertain at breakfast.

Miss Sinclair's marriage to Sub-Lt. Bruce Sangster will take place Monday in St. Stephen's College chapel.

SUPERFLUITY SHOP

The Rer Cross Superfluity Shop is in need of articles to sell, and asks that people take a look through old trunks, shelves, boxes, etc., in an effort to unearth anything that might be of use to the shop. Personnel announced recently that the shop has passed the $17,000 mark, which proves that if the goods are there, the shop can sell them.

Toronto Airman Is Married Here

Warlike simplicity marked the wedding which was held Friday evening in All Saints church, when Miss Margaret Beryl Robinson, niece of Miss M. Armon of Vancouver, became the bride of Sgt. Frederick Irving Yewman, R.C.A.F. son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Yewman of Toronto, Flt.-Lt. H. H. Greenfield, padre at No. 4 I.T.S. here, officiated.

The bride was attired in a simple two-piece afternoon dress of champagne wool jersey, black patent stiletto shoes, black patent slippers and bag. The jacket of her ensemble was designed with quilting on the front, and she wore a shoulder corsage of American Beauty roses.

Mrs. Eric Halskov was matron-of-honor. She wore a wool frock of a foam blue shade, cinnamon brown accessories and corsage of Tallman roses.

Best man was Sgt. Douglas Middleton, R.C.A.F.

An informal, quiet reception was held following the service at the Corona hotel.

The couple will reside in Edmonton temporarily. The bridegroom is attached to No. 4 I.T.S. Prior to enlisting he was employed in the advertising department of the Toronto Evening Telegram.

Women Plan To Aid Drive

The "25 Club" a new, nation wide organization, will be formed in Canadian cities on Monday, to further the sale of war savings stamps. Preliminary introduction of the club will be made by the Food Industry during their February stamp drive.

Six hundred women, organized under a Zone Chairman and District Leaders of the Citizens' Volunteer Bureau, will canvass the city on Monday. The public will be asked to sign a pledge signifying their willingness to buy at least one war savings stamp per week. They will then be supplied with "The Book of the Year" in which to keep their stamps. Each sheet in the book will hold 16 stamps, and as this is completed it may be exchanged at the bank for a war savings certificate. In seven and one half years this will be worth $5.

Edmonton zone chairman is Mrs. Ray Schurman. District Leaders are: Mrs. W. Jordan, Mrs. H. Methers, Mrs. S. R. Lloyd, Mrs. P. Owen, Mrs. L. M. Roberts, Mrs. Gordon Blair, Mrs. J. Murdoch, Mrs. J. Shirlaw, Mrs. J. L. Hollingshead, Mrs. G. Galpin, Mrs. H. E. Dodge.

Mrs. A. C. Daddon, Mrs. Bruce Reid, Mrs. Mawhinney, Mrs. C. W. Clarke, Mrs. C. Lancaster, Mrs. R. T. Liggins, Mrs. W. Williams, Mrs. M. Hornecastle, Mrs. I. F. Morrison and Mrs. N. Christenson.

Calendar

Sgt. Frederick Irving Yewman, R.C.A.F., and Mrs. Yewman, who were married at a quiet service on Friday evening in All Saints' church. The bride is the former Miss Margaret Beryl Robinson, niece of Miss M. Armon of Vancouver, and Sgt. Yewman is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Yewman of Toronto. They will reside temporarily in Edmonton, where the bridegroom is stationed at No. 4 I.T.S.

The Personal Column

THE "SNOWBALL", annual dance of the Junior Chamber of Commerce attracted a crowd of 350 people to the Macdonald hotel Friday evening. Usually held in a setting of lavish decorations, this year's affair was simple, in keeping with wartime social activities, but still a very gay affair. Feature of the evening was a floor show which included exhibitions of ballroom dancing and novelty numbers. The committee in charge of arrangements included three representatives from the women's section of the club and four from the men's. Members of the committee were: Mrs. G. Lyall Roper, Mrs. J. A. Weber and Mrs. V. Sadd. W. Len Aldridge, Thomas Fluke, Jack Toulson and G. Lyall Roper.

Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Plum announce the marriage of their daughter, Miss Betty Plum, to LAC John A. Walker, son of Cpl. and Mrs. J. A. Walker of Calgary. The wedding took place January 28 at the First Presbyterian church, Prince Rupert, B.C. Flt. Lt. Springborn, R.C.A.F. padre officiated.

Canadian Pacific Airlines' club will hold its first dance of the year at the Barn, Tuesday evening. This will be a private affair for employees and their friends. Ralph Marshall, club president, announces there will be a dancing contest with three cash prizes. Lea McKinnon will be master of ceremonies.

Fifteen hundred airmen and their friends attended a dance held in the arena at No. 3 "M" Depot Friday night. Music was supplied by the Aircraft Repair Limited dance orchestra, under the direction of Pete Pullishay.

Mrs. M. O. Muller is in charge of arrangements for a Valentine tea to be held in St. Faith's parish hall, Wednesday from 3 to 5:30 p.m. Guests will be received by the president, Mrs. E. Currey. Mrs. J. Cleveley and Mrs. J. Greene will pour tea. There will also be a sale of sewing.

Mr. and Mrs. Owen Blake accompanied by their small daughter Diana Lea are visiting in Calgary guests of Dr. and Mrs. Thomas Melting.

40 Guests at Trousseau Tea

More than 40 guests called at the home of Mrs. C. Mogensen, Friday afternoon and evening when she entertained at a trousseau tea in honor of her daughter Miss Maya Mogensen whose marriage to Cpl. George Skov takes place on February 25.

The reception rooms were decorated with daffodils and fern.

Mrs. Mogensen, receiving her guests, was attired in a two-piece chocolate brown crepe dress, with velvet trimming, and three quarter length sleeves. Miss Mogensen chose a two piece silk crepe frock of turquoise blue, trimmed in turquoise velvet. The skirt was accented pleated.

Mrs. C. Skov, mother of the bridegroom-to-be, wore an airforce blue frock trimmed with matching braided embroidery.

The tea table was bright with an embroidered white cloth, centred with yellow daffodils and flanked with tall yellow tapers.

Presiding at the tea urns were Mrs. A. Whitehouse, Miss Olive Repka. Assisting in serving were Mrs. C. Neilson and Mrs. Eskildsen. Miss Peggy McBeth and Miss Alma Hillert showed the trousseau.

Men Invited To Pour Tea

The W.A. of Holy Trinity church are sponsoring a Leap Year evening on Wednesday in the basement of the church commencing at 8 p.m. Mrs. W. L. Hammett, president of the W.A. will receive, assisted by the Rev. W. Nainby.

TO SPEAK HERE

Dr. Charlotte Whitton, C.B.E., D.C.L., of Ottawa, who will be in Edmonton next week, and will speak at a luncheon of the Women's Canadian Club Tuesday at 12:30 p.m. in the Macdonald hotel. She is formerly director of the Canadian Welfare Council.

Dr. C. Whitton To Visit City

On a tour of Canada, speaking to Canadian clubs, Dr. Charlotte Whitton, C.B.E., D.C.L., of Ottawa, will be in Edmonton next week to speak to the Edmonton Branch of the Women's Canadian club, at a luncheon Tuesday at 12:30 p.m. in the Macdonald hotel. She has chosen as her topic, "What Do We Mean by Social Security?"

Dr. Whitton, formerly director of the Canadian Welfare Council, and a distinguished social worker, was for three years private secretary to the Canadian Minister of Trade and Commerce. She has been making a number of tours, speaking to various clubs, and during her last visit to Edmonton in November, 1942, she spoke on "Canadian Welfare After Three Years of War," and "Women in the War Effort." On this trip she addressed clubs for the Department of Public Information.

HONORED BY KING
In 1934 Dr. Whitton was created a Commander of the Order of the British Empire by King George V, and two years later she was awarded the Jubilee Medal for public service.

At the Coronation of King George VI she received the Coronation Medal and in 1939, King's College, Halifax conferred on her the degree of Doctor of Civil Law. She holds two other honorary doctorates, one from King's College, N.Z., and one from her own alma mater of Queen's. The latter cited her as its most distinguished woman graduate.

WELL-KNOWN AUTHOR
Dr. Whitton is also author of "Canadian Women in the War Effort," "Dawn of Ampler Life,"

Son of Dr., Mrs. Shillabeer Married at Vancouver Service

VANCOUVER, Feb. 12.—At St. Mary's Anglican Church here, recently, the marriage was solemnized of Miss Eanswyth Ethel Brown, daughter of Mrs. Bertram L. Brown, and the late Mr. Brown, and John Athol Shillabeer, son of Dr. and Mrs. J. C. Shillabeer, of Welaskiwin, Alta. The Rev. James H. Craig officiated.

Both bride and bridegroom were former students at the University of British Columbia. Given in marriage by her uncle, Col. A. W. Sparling, D.S.O., the bride wore her mother's Empire wedding gown of ivory satin and Irish lace. Her floor-length veil of hand-embroidered lace was held in place by a coronet of Orange blossoms, and she carried a shadow bouquet of roses and lilies of the valley.

Miss Joanne Brown attended her sister. Paul Smith was best man, and William Lane and Glen White-law were ushers.

A reception was held at the home of Mrs. Frank Smith, 1427 West Fortlieth.

The bride and bridegroom have taken up residence in Welaskiwin, after a wedding trip to Victoria, Banff and Lake Louise. For travelling the bride wore a suit of wing blue doeskin, brown accessories, muskrat coat and hat, and orchid corsage.

Bad Coughs Yield Quickly To This Home Mixture

Surprisingly Quick Relief. No Cooking. Saves Money. Here is a medicine for coughs due to colds, that you mix in your own kitchen. It's so easy to prepare that anyone can do it. Once tried, you'll never again be without it in your home. Make a syrup by stirring 2 cups of granulated sugar and one cup of water a few moments, until dissolved. No cooking needed. No trouble at all. Or you can use corn syrup or liquid honey, instead of sugar syrup. Then get 2½ ounces of Pinex from any drugstore, put it into a 16 oz. bottle, and add your syrup. This gives you 16 ounces—a family supply—of really excellent cough medicine. It's thrifty, too—about four times as much for your money. And children take it willingly, because it tastes so good. This home mixture takes right hold of a cough in a way that really satisfies. It loosens the phlegm, soothes the irritated membranes, and helps clear the air passages. Eases the soreness, and lets you rest at night. Pinex is a special compound of proven ingredients, in concentrated form, a most reliable agent for soothing throat and bronchial membranes. Money refunded if it doesn't please you in every way.

TODAY'S MESSAGE

By CHAPLAIN A. J. TURNER
United States Army

Power of Prayer

I AM sure the folks back home will be interested to know that soldiers believe in the power of prayer. Since leaving the States nearly a year ago, I have realized more than ever before the power of prayer, and that my greatest need is a closer walk with God. I am sure this expresses the feeling of most of us, far from civilization. The Christian life grows deeper and sweeter as we seek communion and fellowship with God. I know that God is still on His throne, and that He still answers prayer, because we have felt His presence many times and have seen direct answers to prayer.

On several occasions when faced with a great crisis we have prayed nearly all night, and God has heard our cry. On one occasion recently, we faced the darkest crisis in our lives, and I prayed nearly all night. This was on Saturday night. At the close of the Sunday morning service I asked every man who was a Christian and who would dedicate his life to Christ to stand with me, and several hundred men stood. Then I asked those to stand who were not Christians, but who would trust Christ as their personal Saviour (after explaining again the plan of salvation), and men began to stand until about two hundred stood. As the service closed in prayer every man present was standing for Christ. Many of us were in tears, rejoicing because God had opened the windows of heaven and poured out upon us His richest blessings, a direct answer to prayer. Many times I have seen so-called tough, hard-hearted, unconcerned soldiers reach a crisis in their lives, and then call upon God for help, especially when the war clouds were hanging low.

I have yet to find an atheist or an agnostic where I have been. In fact, never before have I seen more hunger for God's Word and the preaching of the gospel of Christ, than since I left the States. The gospel of Christ will melt the hardest hearts, wherever they are—on mountain, plain, or sea. His grace is always sufficient.

Many soldiers are praying that the light of Christianity will soon be burning brightly throughout our war-torn world. We are not only praying for peace throughout the world, but for our enemies as well, and that America will wave high the banners of Old Glory, which will be seen and felt around the globe. Also that we might feel a new breath from Calvary, which will cause each of us to do God's will and seek His ways. We men believe in the power of prayer, because we believe in our eternal God, who is our heavenly Father. Such faith in God separates our religion from that of Japan or other pagan worship.

There is more power in prayer than in all the battleships, airplanes, submarines, tanks, and all the warfare throughout the world combined. Some of the world's greatest battleships have gone to the bottom of the sea; some of our greatest airplanes have taken their flight in flames, or have been shot down; many of the world's best submarines lie in the bottom of the sea; the world's largest tanks have been stopped and thrown completely out of action, but our God lives forever to care for His own.

If Samson, who was filled with the power of God, could take a jawbone of an ass and kill a thousand Philistines, what could one million men do with the world's best war machinery? I think too many are singing, "Praise the Lord and pass the ammunition." In reality, we are passing the Lord and praising the ammunition. Instead we should exercise our faith in God, who is always ready and willing at all times to answer prayer.

Mail from home is a great morale builder, but the greatest morale builder is the consciousness of knowing that Christians throughout the world are praying for me and others, and for world peace.

Yours in our Master's service.

U.S. Corporal Is Kept Busy At Army Base

By HELEN FERRIS

A young American from the south recently had the novel experience of greeting the son of Britain's Foreign Secretary, Anthony Eden, on Canadian soil. It happened when Cpl. Tom C. Sizemore, of the U.S.A.A.F., here invited LAC. Simon Eden, who is also posted in Edmonton, to visit the American base chapel and attend service there.

To Cpl. Sizemore, under normal conditions, such an occasion as meeting LAC. Eden would be the highlight of a life-time, but under prevailing circumstances it was just another pleasant incident in the busy life of the 22-year-old corporal, who already has had many varied and interesting experiences. Prior to enlisting, he trained for two years at the Red Bird Mission, Beverly Hills, in his native state of Kentucky, preparatory to entering the ministry, to which he is dedicating his life after the war. Upon enlistment, he was sent to the North West Territories as editor of "The Record", post paper of the North West Service, later transferring to the Air Corps and being posted to Edmonton as chaplain's assistant.

ABLE ORGANIZER

Officially, Cpl. Sizemore is assistant to Captain James R. Cox, chaplain of the Alaska Wing Command. Unofficially, he is one of Uncle Sam's good-will ambassadors to Canada. During his four months in Edmonton, he has taken a prominent part in devotional activities, and has won many friends. As chairman of the Service Men's Christian League, he is an able organizer of high-quality musical

THESE WOMEN!

"I guess it all started when I just played up to you to get meats; but I'm in love with you, Mr. Schultz... really and truly in love with you, I say!"

programs, which he is frequently invited to present on all-American nights at the Young People's Unions of local churches. In return, he and his comrades are hosts to these groups from time to time at the U.S.A.A.F. station, and Canadians give glowing accounts of American hospitality on such occasions.

A poised and fluent speaker, Cpl. Sizemore is in demand at various youth organizations throughout the city. He also conducts regular discussion groups of the Service Men's Christian League at the station chapel.

GUEST CONTRIBUTION

Due to his promising journalistic ability, he is popular guest contributor to devotional columns of Edmonton newspapers, and writes a column of his own entitled "Chapel Chimes" in the Air Corps base paper, "The Beacon". But it isn't only his talents that have endeared Cpl. Sizemore to the Canadians. He interprets Americans to us as the friendliest and finest people we have ever known.

The Rev. John E. Herzer will be guest speaker at Grace Lutheran church for the 7:30 p.m. service on Sunday. This service will bring to a close the Walther league conference Saturday and Sunday. Rev. Mr. Herzer at present is assisting at Concordia college and formerly made his headquarters in Winnipeg.

As northern vice-president of International Walther league he is well known to Lutheran young people of Western Canada, having served as lecturer at numerous summer camps and winter conferences.

The Rev. Canon J. C. Matthews will celebrate Choral Communion at 9:15 a.m. in St. Matthew's Riverdale church.

"Soul" is the subject matter of sermons to be delivered in the Christian Science church this Sunday.

"Limiting God" is the title of the sermon which the Rev. Daniel Young, B.A., will give at the morning service in First Baptist church Sunday. Subject for his sermon in the evening is "How To Be A Success In Life."

"Expect the Best, Prepare for the Worst," is the title of the sermon to be delivered by the Rev. Dr. Edward T. Scragg, D.D., in Wesley United church Sunday morning. In the evening the minister's subject will be "Great Sayings of Master Minds."

The Rev. Walter J. Atkinson will be guest preacher at the evening service in Central Lutheran church. In the morning the Rev. M. S. Johnson will speak on the subject "Take Heed How Ye Hear."

The Rev. A. B. Patterson will give the fourth in a series of sermons "Helps to Christian Living" entitled "Faith," at the morning service in First Church of the Nazarene.

The Rev. Canon A. M. Trendell will be in charge of services in All Saints' Cathedral Sunday.

Members of the C.G.I.T. and the C.S.E.T., their parents and leaders will attend the morning service in McDougall United church. In the evening the Rev. A. K. McMinn, B.A., D.D., will conduct a special Valentine's Day service.

Kiwanians Hold Bird Competition

In view of the success of previous Kiwanis bird house efforts, those in charge are looking forward to a still better showing.

Instructive articles describing song birds that nest in this district, or that could be enticed here if suitable houses were put up, will appear from time to time.

These articles will also tell of the types of houses birds appear to like best, the best method of construction and the best colors to paint. The Kiwanis Club solicits the co-operation of parents, teachers, and others interested in the children in order that the main aim of the competition—the protection and preservation of bird life—may receive added impetus.

Ancient Greeks established their capital Athens, five miles inland as protection against the pirate-infested sea.

Hi-School Hi-Lights

McDUGALL
By Reva Taradash

Casting for the one act comedy, "The Bird on Nellie's Hat," has just been completed and rehearsals will begin next week.

Preparations for the "fish pond" are almost completed. With contributions pouring in there should be more than enough gifts to go around.

If the snowfall continues, the sleigh ride will be held as planned. After much controversy on whether school pins or pennants should be purchased this year, for the school, pins won out.

The students are eagerly awaiting the "fashion lit" which will be held March 3.

EASTWOOD
By Susanna Alexof

The all-girl talent "Lit" last Friday afternoon proved successful.

Tuxis Conference Now in Progress

The C.G.I.T. Tuxis Conference at First Presbyterian church, opened at 7:30 p.m. Friday and will continue until Sunday. A sleigh riding party will be held Saturday evening and on Sunday at 7:30 p.m. a special service will be held at First Presbyterian church with Dr. Thompson of the University of Alberta as guest speaker. This service is for all C.G.I.T. and Tuxis groups of the city and will conclude the "Girls' Week" activities.

Those participating were as follows: Shirley Smith, Betty Campbell; Eileen Schuster; Irene Diakur; Gwynne Griffith; Barbara Sproule; Barbara Leitch; Sylvia Newham; Lillian Gilmour; Joyce Cobblewick; Frances Smith; Gunhild Nyberg; Phyllis Podolanchuk; Peggy Milne; Dorothy Husband.

A dance followed the "Lit." Eastwood has another victory to add to the girls' basketball team. In a game last Wednesday at Eastwood against Westglen, the score was 29-12 in favor of Eastwood.

WESTGLEN
By Jack Gibbons

The challenge game with Eastwood was won by Westglen's junior hockey team with a score 3-2 in a game played at Eastwood last Friday. However, Scona defeated our senior team 3-2 in the last minute of play in a game held at Scona rink.

Our boys' basketball team have done well in two games played at Westglen gym. Our seniors defeated Scona 27-16 while our juniors had a 25-19 victory against Victoria. However, when our girls visited Eastwood, they defeated us with a score of 27-12.

Several of our students are attending the Hi-Y conference that is being held in Calgary this weekend.

SCONA
By John Macdonald

The senior boys basketball team was defeated by Westglen Monday by the score of 27-16. On Tuesday, the girls basketball team was defeated by Separate by the score of 27-7. However, the senior boys defeated Westglen in a hockey game Tuesday noon 3-2. Points were scored by Niles Christenson and Neil Taylor.

The Dramatic Club last Monday was visited by Sydney Riske, director of drama, department of extension at the University of Alberta, who spoke on "Acting and the Radio World."

The Glee Club meets every Thursday, under the direction of Mr. Rookwood. The 29 members, assisted by Francis Kitchen at the piano, have been practising mixed quartet and all-girl trios.

VICTORIA
By Dolores Kimball

War Stamp sales have jumped up with a leap and bound to a total of $465.80. Room 20 is leading with $145.25.

A tentative cast for the annual play "Milestones" has been chosen: Olga Laruska, Zonia Lazarowich, Irving Lerner, Bethoe Thompson, Don Wilson, Louis Stewart, Bob English, Maxine Hanson, Irene Roy, Jim Findlay, Gordon McCormack, Bruce Aubrey and Bill Buchanan. The play will be presented during the latter part of March. As an experiment, a duplicate understudy cast has been selected from the Dramatics 2 class.

The "Lit" dance that was to be held on Monday was cancelled because the gym was needed for a basketball practice.

On Monday, Feb. 7, The Argosy sponsored an auction sale which was very successful.

Valentine Dance

A Valentines Dance was held Friday by the Robertson Young Peoples group at the Westmount Community Hall. Les White, assisted by a committee, was in charge of arrangements for the dance.

At the regular weekly meeting Tuesday, a set of limitations and powers were drawn up for the members of the executive and the main body.

Dr. and Mrs. Somerville will be guests of the society at their next meeting and will lead a discussion on "Boy and Girl Relationships".

CLEAR THE WAY!

(To be colored with paints or crayons. Whenever you come to a word spelled in CAPITAL letters use that color.)

The sky was BLUE with white clouds in it, and there was lots and lots of white snow on everything. "Let's go coasting," cried Teddy to Susie May. "I've a new YELLOW flexible flyer sled with a long RED rope to steer it with. The sled has RED runners, too."

"Oh, fine!" said Susie May eagerly. "I'll wear my new BROWN coat and my ORANGE color (use RED and YELLOW mixed) scarf, tam o'banter and mitts."

Her leggings were TAN (YELLOW and BROWN mixed) color. Teddy's coat was BLUE, and he wore a YELLOW-BROWN (mix the colors) fur cap and BROWN mitts. His leggings and overshoes were BROWN, too.

"We'll start up by your house, Susie May," Teddy said.

Susie May's house was GREEN with a BROWN roof. There was a little snow on the roof, and long light BLUE icicles off the eaves. The stones at the base of the house were GRAY (use BLACK light), the porch YELLOW, also the shutters on the front windows.

"We will pass the GREEN bush with a white cap of snow and BROWN branches underneath, and pass the little GRAY church with its RED roof almost covered with snow—and pass Mrs. Bird's YELLOW house with its GREEN roof," cried Susie May.

Mrs. Bird's house was on a GREEN platform with a YELLOW support.

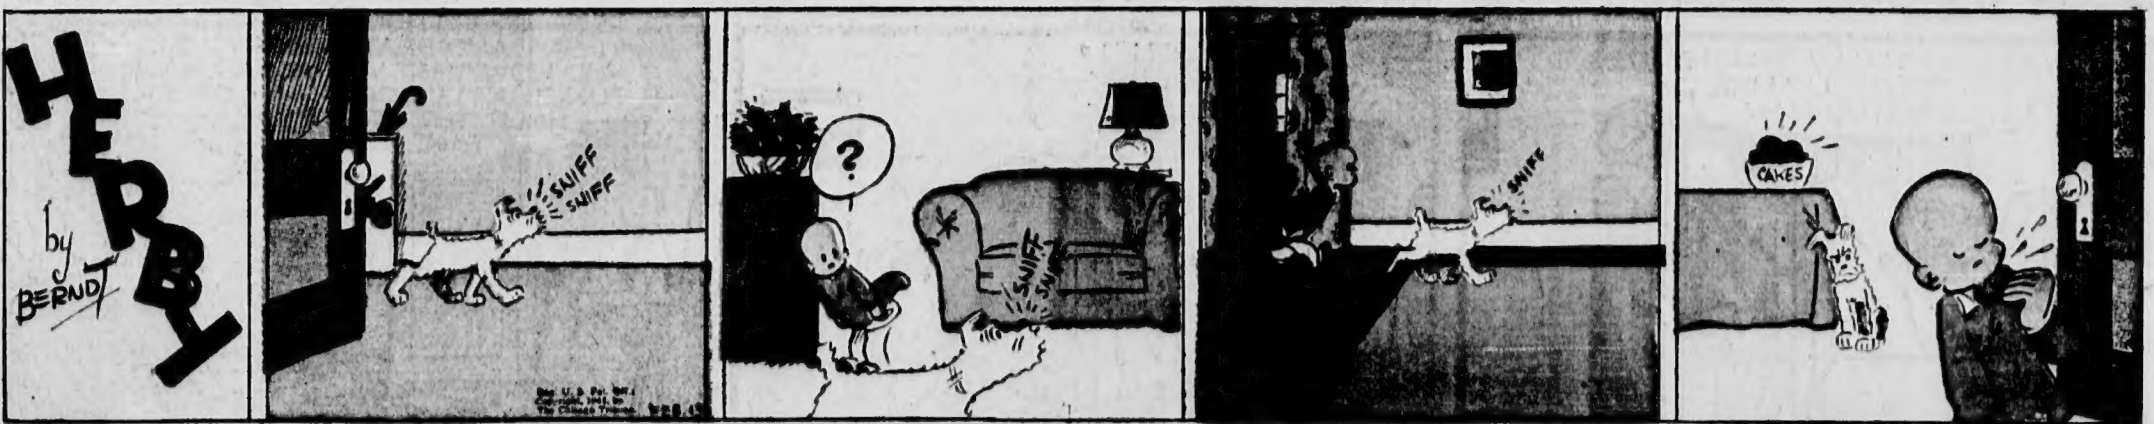

"We'll pass my house, too!" cried Teddy, his RED cheeks all aglow just like Susie May's. "Hurry for our ride!" Teddy's house was light GREEN with a BROWN roof and RED chimney. The porch and shutters were a darker GREEN. There was a long GREEN hedge covered with snow, at the foot of the lawn where Mrs. Bird perched, singing. Mrs. Bird was light BROWN all over.

Tom was out on the hill, too, in his bright GREEN sweater and cap. He waved a RED-mittened hand to Susie and Teddy as they coasted by. Tom wore BROWN trousers and he pulled his sled by a long YELLOW rope. His cheeks were very RED, so was his nose. His hair, showing beneath his cap was BROWN.

The trampled snow looked BLUE-GRAY (use lightly BLUE and a little PURPLE mixed), about the footprints, and in the ruts made by the sleds. There was a RED sled with YELLOW runners further up the hill.

"Ho! Clear the way!" shouted Teddy. Clear the way! So off they go! Teddy's BROWN eyes watching the road and Susie May's BLUE eyes dancing merrily, and her YELLOW curls blew all over her face.

The border is GRAY, and the lettering BLUE.
